Fraud case is growing

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus woman was charged with 163 criminal counts of larceny- embezzlement Monday, including charges she stole from a neighbor afflicted with Alzheimer's Disease.

Romulus Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder said Kathy Frye, 35, of Romulus appeared before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski and was ordered held on a $50,000 personal bond. Her return date in court for a pre-trial hearing is May 25.

Frye had originally been charged with a single count of larceny over $100, Snyder said, and that charge was dropped over a month ago, in preparation for the more extensive case against Frye.

Ray Kiddle, nephew of the victim, Helene Pack, was the complainant in the new 163 charges that each contain four alternative counts. The alternative counts are larceny over $100, larceny by trick, larceny by conversion and embezzlement, Snyder said.

Each embezzlement count carries up to 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine and the larceny charges carry maximum terms of four years.

Snyder said Frye was hired by her neighbor, Richard Pack, back in 1989 to care for his wife, Helene, who is suffering from Alzheimer's Disease. The husband testified earlier that Frye was simply asked to take his wife for rides and interact with her socially. He said in no way was Frye to handle any of his wife's financial dealings.

Police charge Frye had the victim sign her on as a co-signer for the couple's certificates of deposit, some worth up to $115,000. She also had the victim remove her husband's name from the CDs.

Frye also is charged with having the victim sign checks, which she is accused of cashing and keeping the money.

Snyder said Frye is accused of illegally taking $372,000 from the Pack bank accounts.

Recently, Romulus detectives obtained a search warrant for Frye's home and confiscated more than $60,000 of personal items they claim Frye purchased with the money she obtained from the victim.

If convicted, Frye's personal items will be sold and returned to the Pack family as partial restitution for the money taken, Snyder said.

Transportation chief retiring

After 41 years of service to the Romulus Community School District, Transportation Supervisor John Hadyniak announced his retirement effective June 30.

Hadyniak said he joined the school district back in 1953 shortly after being discharged from the U.S. Army following a tour of duty in Germany.

"I began working as a bus driver during the day and a maintenance man at the old Gordonier School at night," Hadyniak said.

He said he continued as maintenance man for 10 to 15 years and became transportation supervisor in the 1970s. "The life of a school bus driver was really different in the $1.35 an hour days, when I first started," Hadyniak said. "Bus drivers were allowed to be much stricter with the students then. Now it appears many parents are willing to take the word of the kids over the bus drivers."

The buses also were a lot different then, Hadyniak said, as some were still warmed by kerosene heaters and only some had air conditioning.

"Today we have 75 bus drivers, substitutes and mechanics on duty and the drivers are given six hours of defensive driving training each year to keep them updated with their driving skills," he said.

Hadyniak is proud of the friendship that abounds within his staff and the record they have built up during 20 years. "And the only accidents we have had are those in which another vehicle has struck our school buses," he said.

"I also served with the Romulus Volunteer Fire Department for 17 1/2 years, many as captain," Hadyniak said. "I resigned the fire department position, shortly after by son, Craig, 1 1/2, was tragically killed in a back yard accident."

The young child became trapped between an old stored garage door and a fence and died of crushing injuries back in 1973, he said.

As he approaches his retirement, Hadyniak said the thing he will miss the most will be working with the drivers and support staff, who have become an extended family for him.

He hopes to do a "lot of fishing for walleye up in the UP or Lake Erie" with his wife, Esther, who also is an excellent fisherwoman. "But since she is undergoing chemotherapy treatments for cancer, we will not be making very extensive trips at this time."

But Hadyniak is thankful that many of his immediate family live in the Romulus area including his three brothers.

Hadyniak and his wife have four grown children, Linda, Johnny, Lorie and Scott and six grandchildren, five grandsons and one granddaughter.

Spending more time with the grandchildren is another joy, Hadyniak is looking forward to as the young children constantly tell him, "Papa you got to go here (or there) with me."

Hadyniak also hopes to continue with one of the other fascinations he has had for decades—farming. "I grew up

Restaurant owner is shot; patrons robbed

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Two Friday the 13th bandits shot the owner of Baldo's Restaurant and robbed customers and employees of their personal possessions late Friday night, police reported.

The bandits, both armed with handguns, entered the Wayne Road strip mall establishment about 11 p.m. Friday and began ordering both the workers and visitors to walk to the rear of the eating area of the restaurant and others to the waitress station, police said.

The victims were ordered to empty their pockets of money and wallets, police said, and then were told to sit on the floor.

One of the gunmen then forced the 43-year-old restaurant owner, Pompeo Dimilia, to his office area, where the bandit demanded more money. When Dimilia failed to produce any more cash, police said, he was shot in the leg.

Police said that the gunshot apparently did extensive damage to Dimilia's femur (thigh) bone and he could be in the hospital for an extended period of time.

After taking money from the cash register and all the personal cash from the employees and customers, police said, the pair fled the scene.

Dimilia was taken to Annapolis Hospital, where he was treated for the gunshot wound.

Romulus police listed the suspects as a muscular black male, 6-foot, 2-(or 4) inches tall, sporting a mustache and wearing a dark hat, shirt and shorts. He was carrying a blue steel automatic pistol.

The second suspect is described as a smaller black male, 5-foot, 7-inches tall, with a thin build, wearing a black stocking cap and red and blue faded plaid shirt. He was carrying a small automatic pistol.

Anyone with information regarding the robbery is urged to call Romulus police at 941-8400 or 942-6879, by investigating officers.

Fourth candidate enters court race

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

A former assistant Wayne County prosecutor is the fourth candidate to enter the primary race for the 34th District Court judgeship.

Attorney Tina Brooks Green join incumbent Chief Judge Felix Rogalle, former magistrate Mark Maironis and attorney Josephine Chapman to vie for one post.

Green addressed the Belleville City Council on Monday night to state her qualifications for the judgeship.

The Huron Township resident, who is married to a member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, has

"I asked him to repeat what he said, the victim told police, and he replied give me all your money."

- Victim

In an unrelated robbery, a 24-year-old Metro Inn desk clerk told Romulus police that a knife-wielding bandit forced him to surrender the proceeds from the office cash register early Sunday morning.

The victim told police that a thin black male, about 40 years of age, and 5-feet, 5-inches tall entered the inn office at 8230 Merriman Road about 4:30 a.m. Sunday and mumbled something to him.

"I asked him to repeat what he said," the victim told police and he replied "give me all your money."

The office clerk surrendered the money and then hit the holdup alarm as the bandit fled from the area, police said.

The bandit was described as wearing a dark baseball cap and jacket. He was brandishing a large stainless steel knife.

The same suspect apparently returned to the Metro Inn office at 3:55 a.m. Tuesday and robbed a 28-year-old female desk attendant of an undetermined amount of cash.

The bandit, who was described as wearing a dark baseball cap and jean style jacket and pants, this time only hinted he had a weapon, police said, as no knife was seen in the second holdup.

This time, police said, he walked up to attendant and quietly said "give me the money" and had his hand poked in his jacket as if it contained a weapon.

The woman attendant pulled out the cash drawer and set it on the counter, police said, and the bandit took what he wanted and fled.

No arrests have been made in either case.

been involved in the practice of law for more than eight years, beginning with positions she filled while still attending law school.

"It is a shame that there has been questions about the reputation of the court, and I believe I can bring something to the court that will make a difference," Green said. "I do not believe in mud-slinging, and I won't do it in my campaign. I'm not here to point fingers, but to do something to correct the situation."

Green said she was unaware of the severity of the problems in the 34th District Court until after she filed for the judgeship.

Voters' choices change as candidates withdraw petitions

More than a handful of area residents decided to retrieve their hats from the election ring last Friday as they withdrew their candidacies for various political seats.

Several candidates remain, however, who are preparing a battle to succeed veteran Congressman William Ford, U.S. Senator Donald Riegle, State Senator William Faust, and State Reps. Justine Barns and William Keith, who all have announced their retirements.

A major confrontation already is in the works for the 13th Congressional District seat formerly held by Ford. The following is a list of those candidates running, and those who dropped from the race.

13th Congressional District

Three Wayne residents, all from different political parties, are seeking nominations for the two-year Congressional term that pays $133,600 annually.

One, Craig Seymour, apparently is guaranteed nomination, as he is the only district candidate for the Libertarian Party.

Three Democrats will battle it out in the primary including David Geiss of Wayne. The other two candidates are Fulton Eaglin of Ypsilanti and Lynn Rivers of Ann Arbor.

Four Republicans including Glen Kassel of Wayne and Dennis Fasset of Belleville also are seeking the party nomination. Other candidates include John Schall of Ann Arbor and Cynthia Willbanks of Ypsilanti.

8th District State Senate

Two Democrats and a lone Republican will be on the primary ballot seeking the four-year seat currently held by Sen. William Faust. The annual salary is $47,723.

Democratic candidates include Charles Griffin of Westland and David Jacokes of Belleville.

The lone Republican candidate is Loren Bennett of Canton Township.

Wayne residents Patrick J. Norton, Robert Dickerson and Kenneth Allen Warfield withdrew their candidacies.

17th District State Representative

Three Democrats and one Republican have filed for the 17th District State Representative seat currently filled by Rep. William Keith. The two-year term carries an annual salary of $47,723.

The Democrats include Bennie Horne of Westland, Thomas H. Kelly of Wayne and David Keith of Garden City.

The lone Republican is Edward Juarez of Garden City.

18th District State Representative

Three Democratic and two Republican candidates, all from Westland, have filed for the 18th District State House of Representatives seat filled by Justine Barns.

The Democrats include Eileen DeHart, Bob Stottemeyer and Joseph Barerra. The Republicans are Michael Novak and Walter Warren, both of Westland.

Westland residents Patricia J. Petitpre, Charles Travis Griffin and Bhagwan Dashairya withdrew their candidacies.

21st District State Representative

Deborah Whyman, an incumbent Canton Republican, has filed for re-election. The only candidate listed to oppose her in the fall is Donna Clark of Van Buren Township, a Democrat.

22nd District State Representative

Gregory Pitoniak, the incumbent Taylor Democrat, is seeking re-election. He will face his previous opponent, Catalina Hall of Romulus, in the Democratic primary.

Then he will be opposed in the fall general election by Taylor Republican, Joseph D. Slaven.

11th District County Commissioner

Two Democrats and a Republican have filed for the 11th District seat on the Wayne County Commission currently filled by Bryan L. Amman. The two-year term list an annual salary of $43,466.

The Democrats are Kenneth A. Warfield of Wayne and Len

Straub of New Boston.

The Republican is Bruce Patterson of Canton Township.

12th District County Commissioner

Incumbent Kay Beard of Westland has filed for re-election and will be challenged by Christonna Campbell of Inkster in the Democratic primary.

Bhagwan Dashairya of Westland also has filed for the Republican nomination.

CITY OF WESTLAND

NOTICE OF

PUBLIC HEARING

ON INCREASING

PROPERTY TAXES

The City Council of the City of Westland will hold a public hearing at 7:00 p.m. on Monday, June 6, 1994 in the Council Chambers in City Hall, 36601 Ford Road, on the proposed 1994 tax levy. Copies of the proposed budget, including the proposed millage, are available for public inspection during regular business hours in the office of the Clerk.

For the purpose of this hearing, the City Council passed a resolution proposing 6.84 maximum which the Council has complete authority to levy. Last year Council levied 6.84 mills ($6.84 per $1,000 SEV) for city operating purposes. Because of an increase in the state equalized value (SEV), state law (Act 5 of 1982) provides that the base tax rate for 1994 be lowered unless a hearing is held.

Public comments, oral or written, are welcome at the hearing on the proposed additional millage rate.

At this meeting the Westland City Council will take action on the proposed millages.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Arson Awareness Week is planned

Fifteen reported arson and suspicious blazes were reported in Romulus in 1993, Fire Chief William Greenslaid reported Monday.

Greenslaid said such fires occur in Michigan at the rate of one an hour. Arson fires cause many deaths and countless injuries.

In 1993, Greenslaid said, Michigan citizens paid more than $75 million in direct arson and suspicious fire losses.

"Arson really does burn everyone," the fire chief said, "however, citizens can fight back by reporting arson and suspicious fires to their local fire and police officials."

There is a statewide program which pays up to $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and/or conviction of arsonists. Tipsters can call 1-800-44-ARSON to report such activity.

To focus attention on this serious crime, Gov. John Engler has declared May 22-28 as Arson Awareness Week in Michigan.

Seniors going to school

Romulus senior citizens will be going back to elementary school on June 2 to learn more about computers.

The seniors first will report to the Romulus Senior Center at 9 a.m. for coffee and rolls and then travel to Wick Elementary School for a live demonstration of the "integrated information center."

An hour later they will visit the classroom and witness students working with their computers and then move on to the Computer Assisted Instructional Classroom (CIAC) area.

A discussion on the latest technology will occur at 11:30 a.m. followed by a talk on "How seniors can learn to use technology today."

Concert choir performed Tuesday

The Romulus High School Concert Choir took part in the grand opening of the newest Wendy's Restaurant at 9859 Middlebelt Road. School officials joined in the festivities Tuesday and witnessed the arrival of the restaurant chain's namesake "Wendy."

The choir also was awarded a special check from Wendy's management.

DARE officer to be honored

Romulus Drug Enforcement Education Resistance (DARE) Officer John Leacher will be presented with a special award by Mayor Beverly McAnally in the Romulus Festival entertainment tent immediately after the Friday parade.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony.

McAnally also will help start the official Romulus 10K Run on Saturday morning by assisting with the firing of the official cannon.

Hadyniak's immediate boss, Assistant Superintendent of Schools Joel Carr has high praise for the retiring bus chief. "John is just a peach of a guy," Carr said, "as he can handle any adversity or poor driving weather in such a calm professional way."

"He is absolutely resilient," Carr said.

"In addition he has a keen sense of humor and is always putting a smile on someone's face, when they most critically need it," Carr said.

"You often tell someone 'you'll be missed,'" Carr concluded, "and in John's case, it is the obvious truth."

Well protested as minority issue

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

For some Romulus residents, the proposed deep well is not only an environmental issue, it involves the rights of the poor and minorities.

It is no coincidence that hazardous waste wells and disposal facilities are located in areas populated by the low-income individuals and minorities, claim many who attended the informational meeting Tuesday night at the First Baptist Church of Romulus.

Guest speaker Ken Brown, who has doctorate in environmental history, asked the audience what happens when they "throw away."

"Where is away? When we discard something, we don't think of where 'away' is. We don't want 'away' to be Romulus," Brown said, noting that there are 20 dump sites in Romulus.

When compared to all of the counties in the nation, Wayne County is third in the rate of lung cancer, ninth in child cancers and sixth in all cancers, Brown told the group.

Brown linked the high rates of cancers and other illnesses with the number of waste sites in the country.

"We're here today to participate in an effort to no longer tolerate pollution from everyone in the community. Businesses in the past have made a practice of dumping in the community - in black areas of the south and in Mexican areas in the west. Now, we are starting to fight back," said the moderator of the meeting. "No more dumping - not in our neighborhoods."

Although there was only a modest turnout for the program, participants were not discouraged by the lack of numbers.

"We're getting the knowledge out, and we expect positive feedback from this meeting," said Raymond Fowler. "We believe that, as the people who are here spread the information, it will snowball. The people who didn't make it tonight will hear about it."

"Neighbor groups will become more aware. There are a lot of questions that are being answered tonight," said Malcolm Underwood.

Nettie Whitmer believes the meeting could provide the impetus to stop the well construction.

tion.

"This meeting will help people to think about it. It may not stop it (the well), but I hope it will stop it," Whitmer said.

Distributed at the meeting were copies of the Principles of Environmental Justice which affirms "the sacredness of Mother Earth, ecological unity and the interdependence of all species, and the right to be free from ecological destruction" and demands that "public policy be based on mutual respect and justice for all peoples, free from any form of discrimination or bias."

The statement was adopted in 1991 at the multinational People of Color Environmental Leadership Summit.

School salary freeze is OK'd

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

After two years of negotiations and a three-year pay freeze agreement, Wayne-Westland School District Administrators contracts were approved by members of the Board of Education on May 9.

"The three-year pay freeze is an honest effort of our administrators to help us out of the financial crisis," Superintendent of Schools Dr. Larry Thomas said.

The Wayne-Westland Building Administrators Association (W-WBAA) and Wayne-Westland Central Office Administrators Association (W-WCOAA) will not receive any raise in pay until July 1, 1995 when a one-time payout of 8 percent is provided and their pay schedules are increased by 8 percent.

"Administrators have worked two years without a contract. This agreement means now they'll work three years without a pay increase," Associate Superintendent of Employee Services Bill Taylor said. "They would have gotten a 3-percent increase each year - that's 9 percent they're never going to see," Taylor added.

The 8 percent payout is divided between the 1992-93 and 1993-94 school years, with administrators receiving a 3-percent increase for last year and a 5-percent increase for the current school year. Administrators will not receive any pay increase for the 1994-95 school year.

The bargaining units also agreed to concessions by increasing the work year by two days, reducing vision fringe benefits and receiving district evaluations every two years instead of three.

"Anytime this administration deems necessary, they may evaluate an administrator," Taylor added.

In addition, both bargaining units will no longer be able to carry over unused sick time to the next year. The W-WBAA also made concessions not to carry over unused vacation time.

"There has been an historic compromise in this tentative agreement. All year we've struggled with the dilemma of saving programs and resolving contracts. Kids do come first in this agreement," board member Laurel Raisanen said before the measure was approved 5-1, with trustee Debra Fowlkes absent.

Trustee Richard LeBlanc voted down the measure.

"The three-year wage freeze is unprecedented ... but I'm still not sure we have the money to pay these contracts in 1995," LeBlanc said. "Never has the schools' financial position been more cloudy than today."

LeBlanc stressed that his motives were strictly financial and that he was supportive of the "dedicated staff."

"I just don't see the money to pay for this," he added.

According to Chief Fiscal Officer Randy Liepa, the school district must borrow money to pay expenses because the district spends money at a different rate than it is received from the state.

"The state pays revenues after the school year starts (in October). Before (Proposal A) we received the money in front," Liepa said.

"We are stuck because of the stupid people in Lansing. We have to pay $400,000 in interest on the money we have to borrow," McCusker said.

Board President Francis Winter added that Wayne-Westland administrators are ranked in the bottom third pay scale among Wayne County administrators. Winter also stressed the amount of extra work administrators have been required to do.

"I decided that there was a choice between complaining and doing something, and I decided to do something," Green said.

Controversy has surrounded the 34th District Court, which serves Romulus, Belleville and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron, since the discovery of an alleged embezzlement by a former administrator and issues involving court expenses and court auctions.

While Green worked in the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, she had experience with juvenile offenders and neglected and abused children.

"It is very important that in order to change our community, we must start with our children. Not only must we protect them and love them, but we must also teach them, and it is only through education and knowledge that we have the ability to change our future."

Later, she became an attorney general for the state and worked with state agencies including Social Services, the Michigan State Licensing Authorities-Regulating Builders' and Real Estate Licenses and the Michigan Employment Security Commission. She also represented the Michigan Secretary of State against drunk drivers.

She is now in private practice involving commercial litigation in Southfield, and serves as assistant personnel director for the secretarial and support staff of some 100 people, and is a member of a five-panel board that oversees the professional staff.

"I believe that my legal experience as well as my personnel and management experience make me a candidate with the ability to have hands-on contact with the community on a personal level that this community so desperately needs," she said.

Additional "ringers" are being sought today by the Romulus Horse Shoe Club.

The 10-year-old club, whose members meet for league play at 6 p.m. every Tuesday, opened the season last night.

While more than 30 members are already in the pits, President Jim Campbell said the league is always looking for new participants.

"We want to attract a whole new line of pitchers," he said, "and those interested need only to contact me at 729-6499."

League play is based upon a handicapped system, he explained, so everyone has a chance of winning. There is no age restriction and both juniors and senior citizens pitch from a shorter distance.

The horse shoe club is located at Elmer Johnson Park, where members maintain numerous blue clay courts that have been the site of tournaments and a recent state championship.

Elmer Johnson Park is located on Ozga Road, just south of Wick Road.

Mock trial brings court proceedings to life

Judge Carolyn Archbold and her staff from the 29th District Court recently celebrated Law Day. Archbold began the event with her biannual visit to Wayne Memorial High School May 3 where court proceedings were conducted on the stage of the auditorium.

Archbold conducted arraignments, informal hearings and sentencings before approximately 600 students. She also lectured about the proceedings they were seeing and used the opportunity to warn the students against drinking and driving.

On May 6, Archbold organized her fourth Senior Law Day program at the court. Each year senior citizens are invited to participate in a day-long program consisting of speakers and complimented by a continental breakfast and lunch.

This year, attorney Richard

Weinberg spoke on probate, attorney Sandra Chapp gave a presentation on elder abuse and Wayne police officer John Williams spoke on safety and security.

At the end of the day, Archbold presided over a mock assault and battery trial where councilwoman Donna McEachern, alias Diane Lynn, played the part of a teenage girl who was being fought over by two boys played by Councilman Tom Kelly, alias Mike O'Brien, and Mayor Ken Warfield, alias Nick Nolte.

The bystander was portrayed by Councilman Al Haidous, alias Jessie James. "Needless to say, everyone had a good time," Archbold said.

The Law Day continued on May 9 when Archbold answered questions at Wayne Memorial High School. "The students that attend

Jury trial scheduled in car break-in

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A Westland man accused of assault with intent to commit murder and two counts of breaking and entering a vehicle causing damage, was scheduled for jury trial in Detroit Recorder's Court Nov. 2, after his alleged Canton Township accomplice pleaded guilty to two counts of breaking and entering a vehicle.

Michael Raymond Alexander, a 20-year-old Westland resident, posted a $15,000 bond and could face a maximum sentence of life imprisonment if convicted of the assault charge. Alexander and Jeffrey Shawn Crowe, a 19-year-old Canton Township resident who is being held on a $15,000 cash bond, face up to five years or a $1,000 fine on each count of the breaking and entering.

The alleged incident occurred March 11 when five men, who were inside the Landings Apartment complex, located at 7000 Lakeview in Westland, heard one of their car alarms go off and went down to investigate, according to testimony taken during preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court.

Once outside, victim Vince

Scovel said he saw the back window of his friend's 1987 Ford Mustang broken out and Alexander half-way inside the car door. Scovel and the other two witnesses began to pursue Alexander and Crowe, who was sitting inside a red Cavalier parked behind the Mustang.

According to Mustang owner Daniel Rohring, he noticed one car speaker was missing and began to chase the car.

"I threw a flashlight at the car speeding away and it broke the window. The other two began chasing him (Alexander) and I chased him too with my dog," Rohring testified.

According to Scovel, the men pursued Alexander and Scovel captured him and wrestled him to the ground. During the struggle, Scovel testified that he was stabbed three times.

According to Scovel, after he was stuck with the knife, his companions kicked and punched Alexander and the Rottweiler dog attacked him.

Scovel, who suffered four wounds, was transported to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne where he received stitches to his right shoulder. He suffered wounds over his left shoulder as well, but testified that they could not be stitched because the wound was too wide.

Voice Of Taxpayers for Efficient Spending

P.O. Box 74473
Romulus, Michigan 48174

Dear Neighbors,

As you know, I've been spending a lot of time looking at the way the City of Romulus is spending our tax dollars. We at V.O.T.E.S. thoroughly examine how the City spends each of our hard-earned tax dollars. We want to see that every dollar spent is spent efficiently, with the maximum benefit for all Romulus residents.

We all clip coupons, shop at sales, and the like, but do we really question if our city is spending our tax dollars efficiently, making them go as far as possible? We must. Every Romulus citizen has a stake in the outcome. Every Romulus citizen should have his or her opinions heard by the City. We at V.O.T.E.S. are working very hard to see that happen, but we need your help.

The "fund balance" is the City's version of a savings account. The July 1, 1993 fund balance was $1,958,472. On July 1, 1995, the City plans to have only $41,406. The mayor reports "in order to balance this budget revenues require a supplemental amount of $880,000 from fund balance." Revenues haven't kept pace with expenses, so the City is using our savings to make up the difference.

Even this may not be enough. In her cover letter to the 1994-95 budget, the mayor admits the need for "substantial revision of this document, up to and including a reduction in work force or hours." Except for this brief statement in the budget, why has the City not told us about the need to cut services and make big changes to the budget? Why are we, the citizens and taxpayers, not better informed? We would like to see more public discussion between the Mayor and Council about this and other financial matters.

It's very common to spend this savings when times get bad and build it up when times are good. Will this money run out before things get better? When does the City expect things to get better so we can rebuild our savings? Leaving only $41,406 in savings doesn't leave many options if the City's estimate on the economic turnaround is wrong. An unforeseen emergency could wipe this out in a couple days.

The City itself states in the budget "a stronger [fund] balance is required to enhance the City's bond rating and cash flow", but yet the City is spending this money. Bad bond ratings mean much higher interest rates on loans and more of our taxes going straight to interest, no important services - like EMS, fire and police protection.

If we don't have any savings to supplement the budget in years to come, as was done this year, the City will be forced to borrow, at a high rate of interest, or raise taxes substantially. Is this the most efficient plan of action? When will the City stop spending our savings and start to rebuild them? These questions need solid answers.

V.O.T.E.S. needs your support and your help to make Romulus more financially efficient and a better service provider. Please join with us.

16 communities join in Earth Day clean-up

A total of 325 households from 16 southeast Michigan communities dropped off enough household hazardous waste during the EQ-sponsored Clean Up for Earth Day to fill 90 55-gallons drums.

three cubic-yard boxes and a large dump truck.

The 12,000 gallons of waste collected during the free household hazardous waste drop off and open house was enough to fill a typical backyard swimming pool, according to EQ officials.

"We are extremely pleased with the community response to Clean Up for Earth Day," said EQ Vice President Jerry

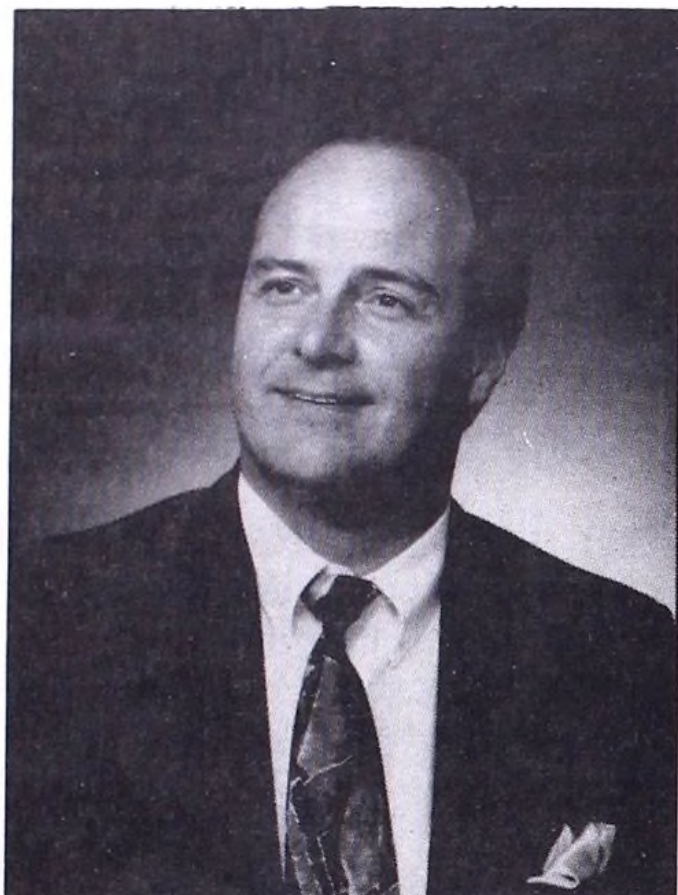

Fore

In addition, approximately 400 area residents toured the EQ hazardous waste management facility, including Willow Run Farms.

Frugal ways pose problem

When Senator William Faust released his official retirement announcement, the long-time legislator used his old letterhead - the one that names his district as the 12th - and we identified him incorrectly as a 12th District senator, not the 8th District senator.

Of course, the error was compounded when we announced that Van Buren Township Supervisor David Jacques is seeking the Democratic nomination for Faust's Senate seat in the 12th District, not the 8th as it is known today.

Faust served his constituents for more many years in the former 12th District. The area was revised in the last redistricting process and this is the first election in which the new district numbers are used.

The new district covers the cities of Westland, Wayne, Romulus, Belleville, Flat Rock, Rockwood and Woodhaven and the townships of Van Buren, Huron, Sumpter, Brownstown and a portion of Canton Township.

After all of the emphasis on economy in government and the call for the institution of cost-cutting measures by lawmakers, we must applaud Senator Faust for using up his old stationery, which was "not printed at state expense," according to the message on the bottom of the news release.

A simple secret

Attention candidates: the secret of election campaign success has been revealed.

While so many out there have been contemplating ways to lure the elusive favor of the voters in their efforts to be elected to public office, the secret to success has been unfolding before their eyes. It's really pretty simple.

Voters have already gone public with what they want. They've sent a message, loud and clear, to anyone genuinely concerned with their desires rather than with personal ambition and self-aggrandizement.

Voters want simple things. They want accountability in office. They don't want any more candidates who were elected by the deep pockets of special interest groups who then control and manipulate the office holder for their own personal and private agendas. Honesty might be an apt, if unfamiliar term, for many candidates to investigate and attempt to incorporate into their campaign and character.

Voters would like some integrity, too. They would like to elect men and women who really have a desire to serve and represent them. They do not want candidates who simply cannot get another job...or those seeking office only as a means to another, more lucrative, end.

Voters want men and women to represent them and their best interests. And, while they might not always agree with the position of candidates on specific issues, most voters are intelligent enough to understand that one issue does not determine the whole of a candidate's qualifications.

And, here's the big one, political hopefuls. Voters are not stupid. The reason you have seen this apathy at the polls and this failure to respond to emotional pleas and manipulative advertising is simple...potential voters simply don't believe you anymore. And as your campaigns sink to lower and lower intellectual levels, voters are less and less interested in you, in the election and in the whole process.

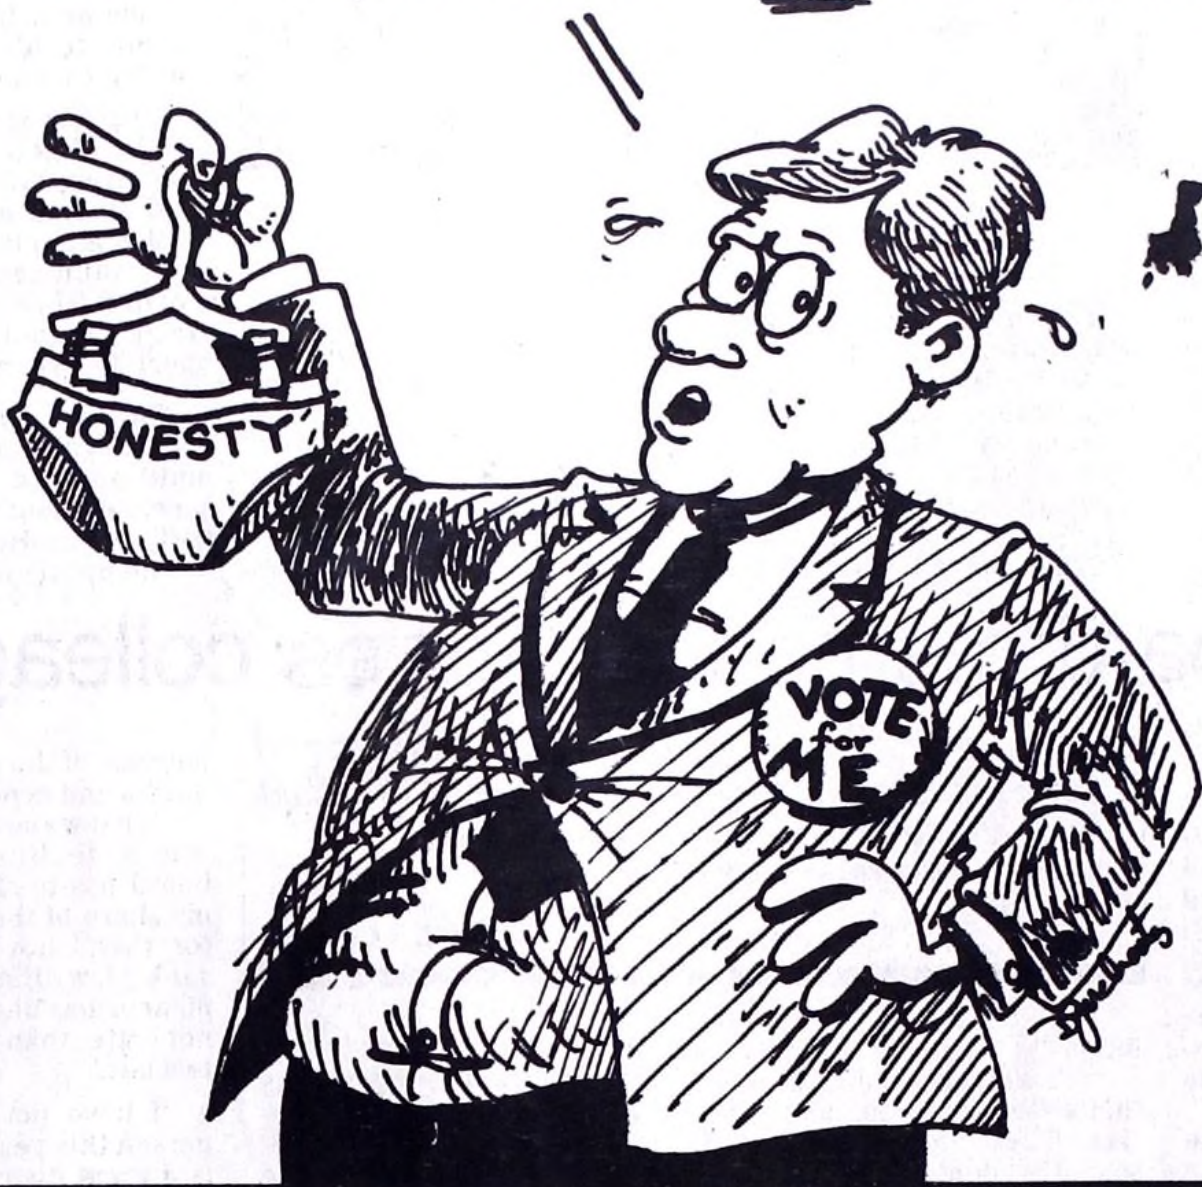

So, while you think you are seducing voters and manipulating their thinking...you are driving most of them as far away from you and the polls as they can get. Rather than vote against you or for your opponent, who is usually utilizing the same campaign tactics you are, voters simply don't bother.

Give them honesty. Give them integrity. Give them accountability. Give them honest representation of their best interest.

Do that and they'll give you their vote.

Simple, isn't it?

ARE YOU SURE THIS IS WHAT THE VOTERS WANT?
CAN'T I TRY SOMETHING LESS REVEALING?!!

'Big Brother' blamed in airport contract

To the editor:

The heavy hand of "Big Brother" bureaucratic government has struck again through the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics. The last three years, Emerald Aviation has successfully operated the FBO (Fixed Base Operator) and one of the best flight schools in the state of Michigan at Mettetal Airport.

No citizen of this country, especially those such as myself, who has served and fought to defend it should be deliberately, politically and prejudicially put out of business by big government. The immorality on behalf of the officials of the Bureau of Aeronautics has made this a monumental injustice bordering on illegality.

We have struggled and invested to survive a three-year onslaught of recession in the aviation business and severe political bickering over the sale of Mettetal Airport. We ask only to continue our business now with the opportunity to succeed. All of our many predecessors for the past 15 years went out of business because they could not succeed. We have been overwhelmingly supported by the citizens of the area and the pilots on the airport. We continue to be highly praised for our performance and service.

The Bureau of Aeronautics has used our business as bait for the bidding. They are giving the value of what we have earned over the past three years, free to another person so that they, the Bureau of Aeronautics, can get the management and maintenance of Mettetal Airport free. They are also looking for something for nothing. I believe they also fear not being able to meet their large financial commitment to Canton Township.

The newly-selected operator has offered to maintain the property for $1 per year in trade off for rent. A price so ridiculously low that any person with common sense would laugh. The end result will be a poorly maintained eyesore for the communities of Canton and Plymouth. The contract will almost guarantee his business failure.

This is not just a sad story, it is an issue of freedom, decency and morality. If it can happen to us it can happen to you. We teach our children what it is to be an American and the freedom it stands for and we send them to war to defend it. This is as much of an insult to being an American as you can get. It shows that big government can step on the little citizen and justify it with mumbo-jumbo so they do not lose their precious jobs.

Walk in their shoes, urge owners

To the editor:

Why do so many lawmakers make it hard on people pursuing the American dream of being their own boss? On behalf of small-business owners throughout Michigan, I urge our legislators to pause and reflect during National Small Business Week (May 1-6) on all that main street businesses contribute to their communities and the nation as a whole.

Too often, state and federal lawmakers fail to recognize that small businesses are the backbone of our economy and the engine of economic growth. Entrepreneurs employing fewer than 50 people have created 85 percent of all new jobs in America over the past 12 years. Those with fewer than 20 workers produced more than half of all new jobs.

If our nation is going to sustain the economic recovery, we need to encourage--not inhibit--the job-generating capabilities of small firms. We need lawmakers who understand the risks and challenges small-business owners face. They need to know that business owners don't oppose proposals like mandated health insurance out of insensitivity to their workers' desires. In fact, our studies show that the majority of business owners who don't offer insurance would do so if they could afford it. The fact is every benefit has a cost. And business owners can't afford to buy something that threatens to drive their business into bankruptcy and put themselves and their employees out of work.

We need people to understand what it takes to meet monthly payrolls with no guaranteed funding source. It's tough. Yet, it's exhilarating to run a business you can call your own. On behalf of those brave enough to risk their all in running a business, we at the National Federation of Independent Business work to preserve their opportunity to do so.

If there are lawmakers out there who want to work alongside a small-business owner for day, I urge you to contact me. We'll show you what it's all about. At the very least, stop and consider their challenges and dreams during Small Business Week.

Wall Street 'Catch 22' explained

To the editor:

Feeling good about the economy? Got a job? Are things looking up? Well - stop it! And wipe that silly grin off your face. Your economic optimism is killing our all-time record setting 12-year-old bull market in stocks and bonds.

According to the wacky wisdom of Wall Street's stockbrokers good news about the economy is bad news for stocks and bonds. And conversely bad news about the economy is good news for stocks and bonds. To fully understand this concept it would help if you saw the movie Catch-22. But let me try to explain.

Well, it's a long story. But Wall Street seems to have an image problem. You know, sort of like low self-esteem. Wall Street brokers have figured that you and I would avoid the stock market like the plague if we had any place else to put our money.

So, all long as the economy basically stinks - with low interest rates, a poor job market and real estate, gold and other hard assets in the dumps - the brokers figure you and I will buy financial assets like stocks and bonds - sort of by default.

But, once the economy starts picking up, and people start setting up new businesses and buying houses, cars and other big ticket items - Wall Street figures that we'll drop them like a bad habit.

Why is this? Well, if the economy starts to perk up - interest rates will have to be raised to help stop inflation from getting started. And if interest rates go back up - you and I can move our money out of the volatile stock market and back to the banks where, at least, it's insured by the federal government. In other words, if interest rates are decent, who needs Wall Street?

So please try to control your enthusiasm about this economic recovery. This market cannot handle very much more good news. Any more increases in consumer confidence could throw us all into the Great Depression of the 1990's. If you can't muster some outright gloom - at least try to show a little fashionable pessimism. It might help ease the frayed nerves of our increasingly jumpy Wall Street stockbrokers. You might also want to rent the movie Catch-22.

Handicapped law should be enforced

To the editor:

I went to the Michigan Secretary of State office at the west end of Wayne. I noticed there were six handicapped parking places near the middle of the shopping center, but no handicapped parking places in front of the Secretary of State office.

If Michigan has a law about parking places for disabled people, then a government office should set the example, not ignore and laugh at the law.

When I asked why there were no special parking places, I was given the three standard government bureaucrat answers. It's not my job, not my fault, not my responsibility. I feel all taxpayers have heard these uncaring answers.

Finally I was given the phone number of the management company who ran the shopping center.

When I called and told them there were no handicapped parking places in front of the Secretary of State office. I was told, "The snow from last winter must have knocked them down." I was promised new signs would be up in two weeks.

I couldn't ask for better cooperation than that. Now, it has been over a month and still no special parking for disabled people.

I feel the uncaring State of Michigan is just laughing at me, a peasant, asking a government office to set the example for other businesses in Michigan.

And all I get are the three government bureaucrat answers. Not my job, not my fault, not my responsibility.

Dedication of new Salvation Army building planned

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

More than 300 national, state and local dignitaries have been invited to the official dedication of the $1.1 million Wayne-Westland Salvation Army Corps Community Center on Venoy Road on Sunday.

The dedication service will begin at 1:45 p.m. outside the site of the former Salvation Army storefront building in the NorWayne Shopping Center, 2363 Venoy Road. A parade of officials then will parade from that site to the new center across the street, 2300 Venoy Road.

Mayor Robert Thomas

Lt. Col. William Speck

Lt. Col. William Speck, commander of the Salvation Army's Eastern Michigan Division, will coordinate the dedication festivities along with Col. Dennis L. Phillips, chief secretary of the Salvation Army Central Territory in Chicago. Phillips will provide the main dedication speech of the day.

The only non-Salvation Army official to take part in the dedication program will be Westland Mayor Robert J. Thomas, who will provide the welcoming address to all visiting dignitaries and private citizens.

Other Salvation Army participants will be Mrs. Col. Noella Phillips, who will read the scriptures, Mrs. Col. Alis Speck, who will offer a dedication prayer and Lt. Donna Price, local corps commander, who will be presented with the new corps flag and keys to the new headquarters.

The flag of the old Nor-

Wayne Salvation Army Corps headquarters will be retired, as the official name of the corps has been changed to the Wayne-Westland Corps Community Center.

The local Salvation Army Advisory Board has been revised to include officials from Wayne, Westland and Romulus. Roy Klay has been elected to succeed Glen Kassel as board chairman. The corps service area later will be expanded to also cover Taylor, Garden City and Inkster.

Programs at the new facility will be directed by two Salvation Army officers and three paid civilian employees, so it is obvious that many community volunteers are needed, Gordon Howard, Salvation Army Community Relations specialist, reported.

The new center includes a massive full-court gymnasium, multi-purpose room, kitchen, sanctuary, classrooms and activity rooms, Howard said.

The public is invited to the dedication ceremony and the refreshment period in the gym afterwards, Howard said.

The Salvation Army is still in the midst of a $400,000 fund drive for the local portion of the $1.1 million structure. The Salvation Army outside sources are picking up the bulk of the building cost.

To date, the drive has gained about $60,000 and it is expected that the remaining money ($340,000 or more) will be donated in the next 12 months, Howard said.

School board member criticizes colleagues

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne-Westland School Board Trustee Richard LeBlanc expressed his deep concern with the recent relocation of four Madison Elementary School families, two of whom said they based their decision to move out of the district, at least partially, on the school system.

According to LeBlanc, one couple said they were moving 100 percent because of the district and the other couple said more than 50 percent of their reasoning was due to the district. However, LeBlanc emphasized that the parents, who were all active in the school district, weren't unhappy with the school their children were attending, but rather the school board and district at large.

"I have not talked to any person this year who said this is a great district and a great board. There are more board problems than school problems."

"It's extremely important that we're losing quality families. They had elementary school students and were upset at the school district at large and at the board even more than the district," LeBlanc said, inviting residents who disagree to call him at home telephone number which is listed.

"One of them, after less than two days at the other school, was amazed at the opportunities they had at the other district," LeBlanc added.

Board President Francis Winter said he felt many parents who leave the district, because of the schools, are doing so because of the lack of curriculum.

"I talked to parents moving out of the district and they said it's because of the curriculum offered. No one ever likes to see people move out of the district, but I don't see many vacant homes," Winter said.

LeBlanc said district enrollment has increased, but only because of the new building of homes and condos in the area.

"What we saw four years ago was a decline. This school board has to shape up. I take my share of the responsibility for this," however, LeBlanc said, "I will say that my demeanor has been fairly good if not better than some of my colleagues."

"I have not talked to any person this year who said this is a great district and a great board. There are more board problems than school problems," LeBlanc said.

"Yes, we have problems like any family, but we're working toward solutions. I still think people are quite happy with the quality of education here," Winter said referring to the plan for redistricting the schools.

Romulus baseball coach has his wish come true with a victory

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Last week, Romulus baseball coach Don Foley said that what his Eagles needed the most was a victory.

Not only did the wish come true for the Romulus coach, but the Eagles put together a modest three-game winning streak before losing the tail end of a doubleheader to Ann Arbor Huron.

"We definitely needed a victory and we got it," said Foley after his club went out and swept a pair of games from Taylor Baptist Park and jolted Ann Arbor Huron in the first game of a twin bill.

"These kids have been trying and were coming up empty. The victories will help us for the districts."

The Eagles started the week off with a slugfest against Baptist Park and survived a 19-14 blast. Mike Deaton worked the first 5-2/3 innings to get the victory. However, he needed some help from Eric Lambert who finished up the game.

Romulus exploded for three runs in the second inning and tilted the scoreboard for seven runs in the fourth - their best scoring output in one inning for the season.

The Eagles also collected 18 hits, including three off the bat of Steve O'Connor, who drilled a three-run triple and accounted for six runs batted in. Teammate Mario Thomason chipped in with four hits - all singles, while Lambert had a three-hit day, including three RBIs.

Dan Czajkowski also had a good day at the plate. He laced three singles and scored an equal number of times.

The nightcap turned into a thriller with Romulus breaking a 3-all deadlock with a bottom of the seventh run. In that decisive inning, Foley sent in O'Connor to pinch-hit and he stroked a single to right center. O'Connor advanced on a wild pitch and when Tim Roberts also singled, Foley held O'Connor at third, playing it safe.

Gary Harris, who had a homer and double the first two times up, was intentionally walked and that brought Thomason, who had three RBIs for the game, to the plate.

Thomason didn't miss any opportunity to play the role of game-winner as he drilled a single to left, scoring the winning run.

Joe Hojara also contributed two singles and James Loftis added a run-scoring single in the fourth.

Romulus also took a cliff-hanger from Huron in the first game from Ann Arbor Huron as Jesse Flores, with relief help from O'Connor, claimed a 6-5 verdict.

The River Rats erased a 4-0 deficit with a five-run rally in the fifth, but the Eagles came back and scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth to stash the victory into their column.

In that sixth, Tim Roberts got aboard on an error, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored with Nick Locklear's double. Then, Lambert who has been a tough out for the opposition this year, came through with a RBI single to clinch it.

Lambert had a perfect three for three day, including a double while Flores helped his own cause with a pair of singles.

The River Rats came back with revenge in their bats for the nightcap. They pounded the Eagles 14-3 and handed sophomore pitcher Ryan Evans the loss.

It was close for one inning - the first - as the two non-conference teams exchanged three runs. The Eagles got theirs when Roberts lead off with a double and raced to third when Flores singled. Roberts then scored on a wild pitch and Loftis walked. Deaton's single drove in one run and Loftis eventually came around on an error when Evans hit one to short stop.

These kids have been trying and were coming up empty. The victories will help us for the districts.

Wayne edges Taylor

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Jason Overton's "tainted" one-out single off of Taylor Center hurler Bill Dillingham paved the way for a last of the seventh run and a 4-3 Wayne Memorial victory in the Mega Conference Red Division.

Overton smacked one that bounced over the shortstop's head and went into left field to get aboard. Then, Clark Boston walked, and with runners on first and second Wayne coach Jim Chronowski called for the steal.

Overton was safe at third and scored with Scott Wetmore's sacrifice fly.

"It was a good one to win," said Chronowski whose team hasn't seen much action lately because of the rains. (If it rains, the flats where the Zebras play is usually flooded).

Taylor Center drew first blood as the Rams scored two times off of winning pitcher Shannan Green in the second inning. Wayne tied the score in its fourth as Wetmore singled and moved down to second when Dillingham also gave up a base hit to Phil Snow. Overton also walked and Wetmore and Snow scored on Boston's base hit to center.

Wayne moved ahead 3-2 when Boston's grounder to second was bobbled and Snow came around in the fifth inning. He got aboard with a single to start the inning.

Green went the distance and four-hit the Rams. The Wayne hurler also chalked up 10 strikeouts and walked only one batter.

Dillingham also pitched a good game, scattering eight Zebras hits. He struck out five and walked three, but gave up three RBIs to Wetmore.

Wayne was rained out against Wyandotte earlier in the week. Since it is a Red Division game, it will be rescheduled for later in the season.

Norris leaps to win

Former Belleville High track and field star Shannon Norris owns the Central Michigan University triple jump record.

Norris established the new record after soaring 50 feet, 11-1/2 inches in a meet against arch-rival, Western Michigan University, recently.

Norris also placed first in the high jump as he cleared 6 feet, 11 3/4 inches for the win.

Central placed fourth overall in the meet behind winner Notre Dame.

Glenn slugger Jeromy Cosby is greeted by his teammates after he drilled a three-run homer in the fourth inning to lift the Rockets to a 10-0 victory over Walled Lake Western in a Western Lakes Division game last week. The game was called after six because of the "mercy rule." The Rockets boasted a 13-3 record at midweek last week. ANP photo by Jim McGill

Mercy Cosby's homer blasts Rockets past Western to 13th victory

Walled Lake Western discovered why Westland John Glenn is considered one of the best teams in the area this year.

Glenn "mercied" Western as Jeromy Cosby hammered a three-run homer to power the Rockets to a 10-0 victory in a Western Lakes Division game last week. Glenn boasts a 6-1 divisional record - their only conference loss is to league leader Plymouth Salem - and they are 13-3 on the season.

"We're beginning to put it all together," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes. "And you know when a coach says something like that what usually happens - the pieces begin to fall apart."

But, for now coach, the Rockets are on a roll.

Bryan Besco came up with a one-hit pitching performance to chalk up his fifth personal victory in six starts. He looked formidable to Western as he cut down 13 batters on strikes and walked only two.

Cosby blasted his three-run homer in the bottom of the second inning after losing pitcher Danny Bulgaretti walked Brian Morrison and Matt Howton was safe on a fielder's choice. The Western infield opted to get Morrison at second but the speedy quarterback beat the throw.

Nick James' triple that led to a two-run sixth inning gave the Rockets their 10-run lead, which allowed the ump's to evoke the "mercy rule." (When a team has a 10-run advantage, the game may be called).

Cosby finished with two hits, including the homer and three RBIs. Jake Henry tagged the Western pitcher for a pair of singles, while Bryan Besco and twin, Derek, split four hits. Bryan finished with a double and a triple to help his cause. Mike Bint's contribution was a two-for-three, including a double and RBI day.

Glenn also humbled North Farmington, 9-1, last week as Derek Besco fired a two-hitter, fanned nine and walked three for the victory. He got help in the seventh from Jerry Farra.

Loser Michael Lee was relieved in the sixth after Glenn had tagged him for 11 of their 13 hits.

Henry, Derek Besco and James all checked in with two hits and two RBIs each while Bint clobbered a triple down the left field line ...for one of his two hits for the day.

Belleville bid to stop Southgate fall short

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It was one of those classic high school baseball games that both teams deserved to win.

However, unfortunately for Belleville and coach John Bertz, the "W" went into Southgate Anderson's victory column.

"Excellent game," said Bertz, "and we had opportunities to win it. But it happens. We'll be back."

In the eighth, Belleville hurler Jeremy Gray got in trouble - serious trouble when he gave up a leadoff double to Mike Fenech. Then, after he notched a strikeout, Gray wild pitched Fenech to third and, you won't believe it, the young Tiger pitcher also unleashed a wild pitch, scoring Fenech from third and giving the Mega Conference Red Division leaders a big victory.

Gray lost the pitcher's duel to Tony Vigilanti, who worked the seventh and eighth inning in relief of Tom Ilejewski. The two Anderson throwers held the Tigers to one hit.

Belleville tied the score in the bottom of the third after Southgate scored in the top of that inning. Ilejewski tossed a one-out single to Jason Garland, who was sacrificed to second. Jason proceeded to steal third and when the Anderson catcher's throw went wide, the Tiger baserunner raced home.

The Tigers had an opportunity to end the duel in their seventh when Brian Dick was issued a walk and was sacrificed to second by Matt Davenport. That was all for Ilejewski, who was removed for Vigilanti who intentionally walked Rodney Komaromi.

With the bases-loaded, Vigilanti got out of the jam when he got the next batter to pop up into the infield. He retired the side with a struck out.

Belleville bounced back and took a 15-11 slugfest from Taylor Center as Garland got the victory in relief.

The Tigers scored two runs in the second inning, erupted for eight in the third and put the Rams away with Dick's grand slam homer in the top of the seventh with Michael Stewart, Komaromi and Brent McCarney aboard.

Both Komaromi and Matt Davenport had two hits, with Komaromi scoring three times.

Both pitchers had their problems in this one as they issued a total of 19 walks with the Tigers collecting 10 of them. The victory evened up Belleville's record to 5-5 in the Red Division. They are 9-10 on the year.

Glenn cage star signs with Wayne

By TOM MOORADIAN

Tony Goins, who led Westland John Glenn to a share of the Western Lakes Conference divisional title and to the Class A state quarterfinals, has signed a letter of intent to attend Wayne State University this fall.

The 6-5 playmaker, who was a unanimous All-Area and Metro choice, led the Rockets in scoring and assists.

"Tony is one of the finest all-around basketball players I have ever coached," said Glenn's Michael Schuette. "He has an abundance of talent and will play a key role in Wayne's lineup."

Trustee disputes columnist's accusations of improper meeting

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Charges of being "booted" from a Wayne County Community College (WCCC) presidential search committee meeting by a Detroit News columnist were labeled untrue by WCCC Trustee Ted Scott.

"Nothing improper happened, and there was no intention of impropriety," said Scott.

In his May 15 column, Pete Waldmeir, a long-time critic of the college, claimed he had been named to the selection committee, but barred from attending when he showed up.

"Waldmeir was never on the committee," said Scott, a Westland resident who chairs the WCCC presidential selection committee. "He was nominated by three trustees, but never formally placed on the committee. Obviously, he was not notified about the meeting, because he had not been named to the committee."

"When Waldmeir's name was proposed, one of the board members said he would not serve on the committee if Waldmeir was on it," Scott said. "We are seeking people to serve on the committee with positive attitudes about the college, and Waldmeir is well known as being very critical of the college."

The columnist also charged that Scott "just sat there silent and helpless as (Trustee President Denise) Wellons-Glover gave me the heave-ho."

Scott said that the columnist had never indicated that he wanted to talk to him.

"I saw him before the meeting and said 'hi' to him. At that time, the meeting wasn't in session, so I was not serving in the role of chairman," Scott said. "The advice that we have received indicated that we do not have to open the search committee meetings to the public," said Scott. "This is not a regular meeting of the trustees. All we will do is review resumes and submit the names of 10 candidates that we believe are the best choices for president."

"We will not be interviewing any candidates, and our selection is not binding on the full board. The board may choose one of the candidates named by the selection committee or they may choose someone else," Scott said. "Consequently, we want to protect the confidentiality of those who submit resumes. If they believe their names will be made public, many qualified candidates will be hesitant to submit an application."

Scott noted that a recent presidential search at a major university resulted in a president of another college losing his job when it was revealed that he was seeking the job in Michigan. Unfortunately, he was not selected for the post he had applied for, Scott said.

"At the time that we make our selections, they will be made public," the District 9 trustee said.

Jobs available for youths

The Wayne County Job Connection is currently accepting applications for a variety of job training and employment programs for economically disadvantaged youths in the area.

The Wayne County Job Connection provides on-the-job training, summer youth employment programs, work experience and apprenticeship opportunities for youth ages 16-21.

"At the Wayne County Job Connection, we prepare America's greatest resource—its young people—for transition to adult employment and future career success," said Edward H. McNamara, Wayne County executive.

The main element of the youth programs focuses on out-of-school youth, ages 18-21. Out-of-school refers to individuals who may not have completed high school or that have completed classes but are currently unemployed. These youths are being prepared for specialized training programs by starting with work experience employment in governmental or non-profit work sites.

After completing the work experience, they may then be enrolled in a long-term career training program in a field where there is identified job growth.

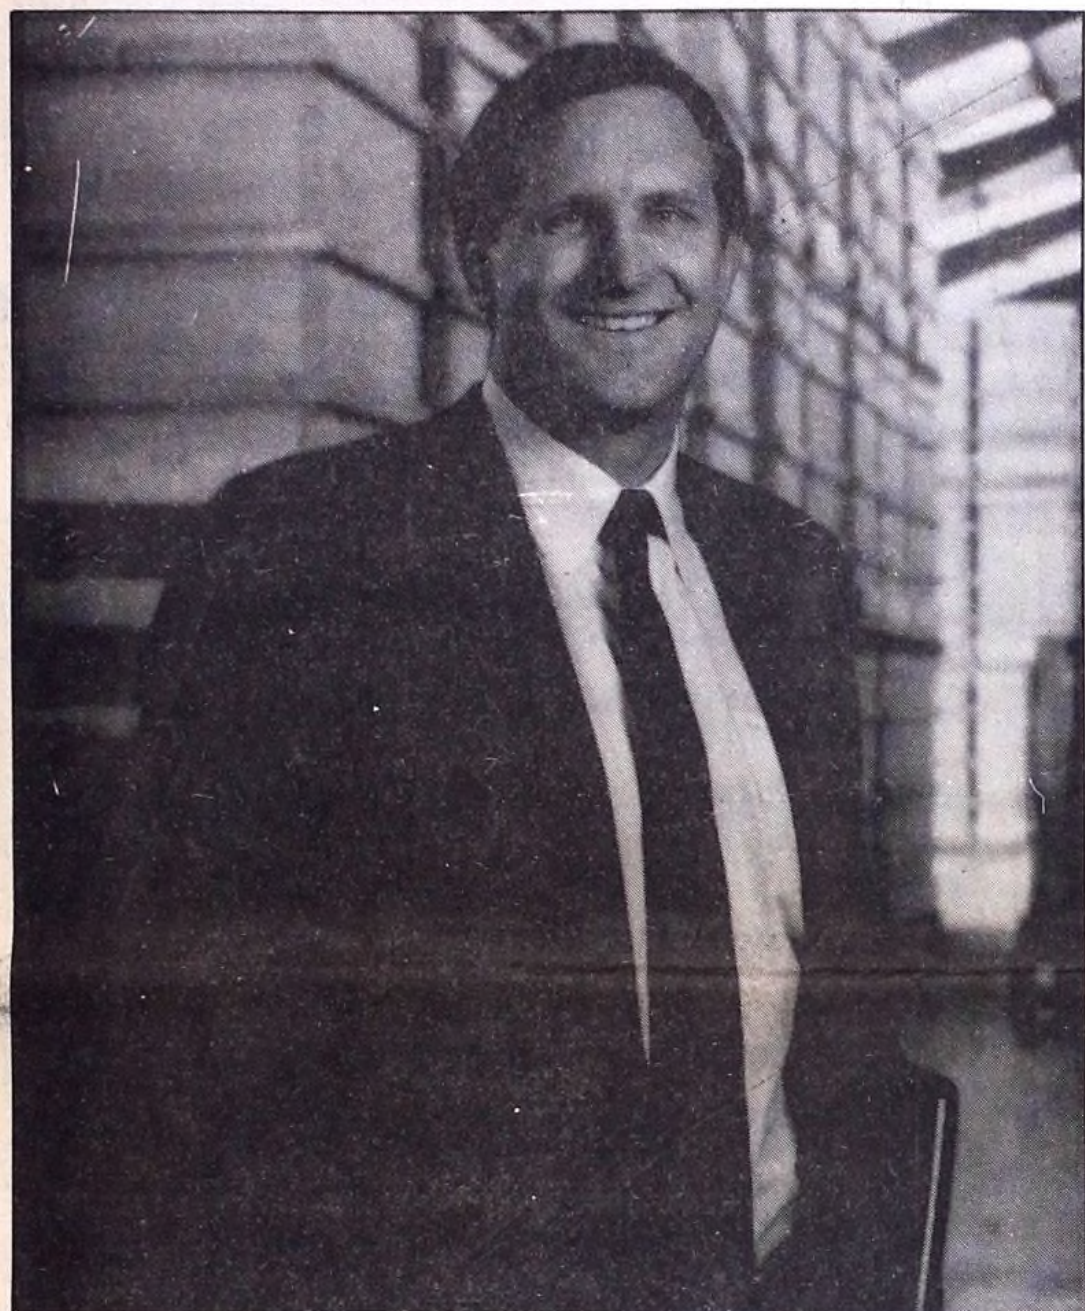

The Job Connection also offers the Summer Youth Employment Training Program (SYETP) at the end of the school year. This program provides short-term employment to eligible low-income youths between the ages of 16 and 21. The major goals of the program are to provide a meaningful summer job and to assist youths in developing and maintaining academic skills while developing positive work attitudes and behaviors in young people.

During the summer program the young people will not only be employed, but will make valuable contributions through neighborhood beautification projects, health services and other programs that will enhance the community.

Most of the program jobs are available from June through August. The summer jobs program youthline is 562-4600, Ext. 253. Youths from Belleville, Canton Township, Inkster, Van Buren Township, Wayne and Westland are eligible.

TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS

EXPERT TO TEACH ENTREPRENEURS HOW TO PURCHASE A COMPANY

He's going to make them work—and he's going to offer them a few surprises. As part of an ongoing program at Big Rock Valley in Cassopolis, Mich., author Galen Dean Loven will facilitate workshops encompassing the principles he explains in his book, Succession Planning for Closely Held Businesses. And no, he isn't talking about estate planning or how to take over the family business. What he's talking about is how to buy a business and make sure the purchase makes everybody involved happy with the deal.

"The workshop is designed for those would-be or want-to-be business owners, or for those who just completed taking over a business," the 43-year-old professional consultant explained. "This is a working session and will be intensely focused on the individual needs and business situation involved. When participants leave here, they will have in hand working documents concerning themselves and the acquisition or succession they are planning," Loven said.

Huh? What documents? What plans?

"That's why we're calling it a workshop," Loven said, "rather than a seminar or lecture. This is designed for the people attending who need a strategy and a plan for owning and acquiring a business.

"For instance, they need plans for dealing with outside providers—people who will supply raw material, supplies or even bankers.

They need a plan for dealing with the present owner or seller and they need a strategic plan for the business," he said.

"And they need the financial tools for succession—they need to understand financial statements and the ways to finance a business. It's hard to say what we'll do because it is so individual—we'll look at some very creative ways to deal with an acquisition," Loven said.

Loven's primary business for the past six years has been helping plan successions or acquisitions of businesses. He's been a business owner for more than 20 years. He has a degree in electrical chemical engineering and is pursuing his masters degree in international management at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash. He began his professional career as a regional manager with Xerox, "but that was ancient history."

And Loven has learned a lot in the hundreds of sales and successions in which he has been involved.

"There is a general expectation that the owner of a business will be responsible for succession—that just isn't true," Loven said. "What we teach buyers and hopeful buyers is that they are responsible if they want this to happen. They have to know how to deal with an entrepreneur. Most people just don't know," he added.

"It goes along with my theory that most people under the age of 40 think life should be handed to them," he said with a chuckle, "but I really believe and have proven with my experience that personal responsibility is one of the first tasks of ownership."

For a succession to be successful, buyers must realize the contributions of an owner—they usually just don't know. Most senior managers and family members really discount the contributions of an owner. They don't see what owners do—what they contribute and they, like people who have never owned a business, do not understand," Loven said.

"As for dealing with these owners, buyers must understand the perspective of the owners. What is going to motivate them—in most cases it isn't money. Money is only a symptom of the real issue," he said. "Buyers need to discover the real issue and satisfy owners in a sale. Those motives are usually highly personal and individualized," he added.

"As I said, most people, senior managers and employees, tend to discount owners' contributions. Until you've been an owner, you don't understand. It's sort of like until you've worn the clothes, you don't know how they fit," he said. "We look at ourselves in our business as custom tailors. When you put on clothes we've helped you with, there's a reasonable chance they'll fit."

Loven said that during a succession or acquisition, the hidden agendas of most people involved are revealed. And couples in business face particular problems, he said.

"The roles of partners change, depending on who's in the room," he said. "And 50 seems to be the magic year with entrepreneurs. That's when they have their real mid-life crisis," Loven added.

"The person in business has no idea how they affect the lives of others and those around them, they are buried up to their neck in what they do. I believe that communication between spouses is tantamount to success. Partners need to communicate and to talk—the person who is not the owner can still be pro-active," Loven said.

A workshop designed for couples is planned at Big Rock Valley in September, Loven said.

But the June meeting will be of real value to those who want to buy a business, Loven said. And those attending will be well on their way to owning or successfully operating a business.

"No business ever sold remains the same. Buyers need to identify what the business is today and what it is that they want it to be—and they need to understand owners. It's pretty simple. Most owners want the same thing. They want their business to continue to succeed. That's really what they nearly all want—the money and the rest of it is secondary," Loven said.

For information regarding the seminar, contact John Kurtze at 1-800-888-1424. Requests for information can be faxed to 1-616-445-2648.

The seminars are sponsored by the Edward Lowe Foundation, Big Rock Valley, 58220 Decatur Road, P.O. Box 385, Cassopolis, Mich. 49031.

Best cook on the block sought

She can be any age...pre-teen to senior citizen. She may be of any nationality, occupation or religious persuasion. She may very well even be a he.

We're looking for good cooks. Excellent cooks also qualify and we'll even take a few of those gourmets we've heard so much about. But basically, we're searching for those residents of our area who have developed some reputation and expertise for their culinary skills. Perhaps their chocolate-chip cookies are enough to kill for, or it may be that they roast a chicken to make Julia Child weep with envy. Maybe their pot roast drives diners to frenzied zeal or their ethnic specialties make strong men weak.

Whatever it is, we want to know about it. After several months of complaints and requests, Associated Newspapers will be reviving the Best Cook on the Block feature--but we need the names of some good cooks to feature in the section. The cooks, however, must be willing to part with a few of their secrets.

Names of those cooks who qualify should be mailed to: Best Cook on the Block, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184

Mother of leukemia victim to accept son's diploma

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

When Belleville High School seniors receive their diplomas on June 10, the mother of Raymond Refitt III, who died earlier this month, will accept her son's diploma.

The young man was stricken with leukemia when he was 9, and underwent numerous chemotherapy treatments as well as a bone marrow transplant in an attempt to conquer the disease.

Reffitt, who died at his home on May 7, had received tutoring in home-bound classes, and was visited by his instructors during the years he was confined to his home.

Throughout the years, the community has rallied to cheer the young leukemia victim. Through the Make-a-Wish Foundation, he was able to make a trip to Disney World with his mother, and also was treated to a Detroit Tigers game. In 1992, the youth had an opportunity to meet former hockey star Eddie Mio.

A stretch limousine arrived at Raymond Refitt's home one June afternoon in 1992, and conveyed the youth and Eddie Mio plus an entourage of Van Buren Township officials on a trip around the township. At that time Mio presented pictures of hockey great Wayne Gretzky and himself to the young man along with caps for Raymond's collection.

Meeting the hockey star and riding in the limousine were a thrill for the young man who spent a major part of his life in hospitals and homebound.

Survivors include his mother, Anna Wade of Belleville; father, Raymond Refitt Jr. of West Virginia, and grandparents, Frank and Phyllis Boyd of Westland, Raymond L. Refitt Sr of West Virginia; Julia Morris of Romulus and Frank Morris of Florida.

Services were at the David C. Brown Funeral Home in Belleville with the Rev. Drex Morton, pastor of St. Michael's Lutheran Church in Canton, officiating. Interment was at Knollwood Memorial Park Cemetery in Canton Township.

A highlight in the life of leukemia victim Raymond Refitt was a visit two years ago by former hockey player Eddie Mio. ANP photo by Joan Dyer-Zinner

The Long And Short Of Making More On Your Money, Whatever Your Economic Outlook.

Rising Rate CD For The Long Term.

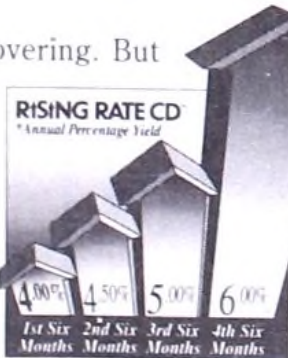

FirstRate Fund For The Short Term.

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to earn a great rate. No matter what your strategy.

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term deposit and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD.SM

It starts at 4.00% APY. And you'll end up earning 6.00% APY for the final term.* During the initial two-year term, you can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days after every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit.

Plus, you can get a no service charge personal checking account.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up this year, deposit short term in the FirstRate Fund.SM The interest rate on balances of $10,000 or more is based on the 91-day Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it.

An opening deposit of $10,000 is required. It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times. Plus you can get a no service charge personal checking account.

FirstRate Fund Account Balances	Annual Percentage Yield
$10,000 or more	4.41%
Under $10,000	1.66%

Of course, your deposits are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor.

Love story

Volunteer troop entertains strictly for affection

Loretta Sovel understands love at first sight.

She also knows the heart-break love can cause when the object of that overwhelming affection behaves in a hurtful or inappropriate manner. But Sovel solved her relationship problems with a bit of counseling from an expert in these matters and today, she and her beloved are on the best of terms and exhibit a closeness and bond to be envied by all.

Of course, Sovel's partner in this relationship is a 16-month-old mixed terrier named Skittles and the professional help she found for the two of them was Dan Morris, a dog trainer who offered the pair obedience training—but it's still a great story.

Today, Sovel and Skittles are members of Morris' elite Dogmatics, a canine drill team which performs routines to music and makes charity appearances at convalescent homes, children's hospitals and senior citizens' facilities in the area. They appeared at the Family Pet Show at the State Fairgrounds and were quite a hit in their matching lack, turquoise and purple costumes.

Sovel, who teaches English and social studies at Gabriel Richard High School in Riverview, is more than pleased with her decision to take Skittles to both on and off-leash obedience training and is grateful for the change in her dog's behavior.

"She was independent-minded as a puppy," Sovel said. "She would have temper tantrums, just like a child," Sovel said. "She'd run around in circles, barking, when she didn't get her own way. Temper tantrums is the best way to describe it," the life-long Westland resident said.

Sovel discovered Skittles at the Westland Humane Society when she went looking for a pet at Christmas in 1992. "She was only 7 weeks old when I first saw her," Sovel said. "We bonded, it was that simple."

That bonding isn't to be taken lightly, as Morris will attest. With more than 25 years as a professional trainer, he's a man who knows a special dog, and owner, when he finds one. That special bonding is what makes the Dogmatics members unique. Morris looks for dogs and owners who work well together and have a special relationship. And dogs who are responsive to an audience.

To join his elite corps, the first of its kind, dogs must also be able to understand, obey and perform more than 100 commands. The specialty precision routine involves a drill, hurdle jumps and other elective obedience training exhibitions.

"These dogs never work for treats," Morris explained. "They perform out of love and with enthusiasm because they are trained using kindness, understanding and an ever-present sense of humor," he added.

Performing at Botsford Hospital recently, the dogs and their owners delighted their audience, and the hospital staff, with their antics and their response to the crowd.

"The Dogmatics have contributed in a significant way to the recovery of patients at Botsford General Hospital," commented Kathryn Bartz of the hospital staff. "The Dogmatics provide the patients with the opportunity to share in a mutually giving and positive relationship. The owners and the dogs include and involve patients in the performance and with the dogs following the performance, which creates the opportunity for the patients to enjoy the unconditional positive regard which dogs give so freely."

Obviously, Skittles is cured of her less-than-desirable behavior now. "Well, she's as well behaved as she wants to be," Sovel said with a chuckle.

The 30-person, 30-dog troop dedicates every weekend to various volunteer efforts. They rehearse every Friday night and occasionally on Saturday. "It's quite a commitment," Sovel agreed, "but it is a chance for the two of us to have some social interaction and we visit people who don't normally get a lot of visitors," Sovel said.

There are dogs of all sizes and breeds in the group, Sovel and Skittles, along with a Shih-Tzu and a Jack Russell Terrier are the smallest members of the troop.

"When we do one particular routine, Skittles is between two Dobermans, two really big dogs," Sovel commented. "It's quite a sight."

More information about the volunteer group is available at 427-7940 or 348-3483. The dogs are scheduled to perform at the Balloon Fest in Howell in June and the Gibraltar Trade Show in August.

Loretta Sovel and Skittles are members of the prestigious "Dogmatics", a canine precision drill team which performs in local parades and visits hospital and convalescent homes to entertain patients and residents with their uncanny communication and obedience skills.

Molly, a Jack Russell Terrier, owned by Erin Swain, is always one of the stars of the Dogmatics performance when she zips through the hurdles which challenge many of the larger dogs.

Dogmatics member Sharon Fader with Angel, her Shih-Tzu, visited patients at Botsford Hospital earlier this month and got close to the audience following the Dogmatics performance.

It's a bit early in the season to expect crowds of visitors at the Metroparks, but those who take advantage of the early days of the season find the trip well worth their while.

With warm, balmy weather and not as many people to share the trails, golf course and playgrounds, visitors can take their time exploring and enjoying the many features available at Lower Huron Metropark and the other area parks.

The Bickman family strolled through Lower Huron Metropark on Thursday afternoon to check out possible sites for a family birthday party.

Golfers Dale Springer of Belleville and Tim Hite of Westland were among the sparse group on the Par 3 course.

"We usually come here once a week," said Springer. "In a few weeks, we'll be sharing the course with a lot more golfers."

ing a field trip last week during the warm weather and bright sunshine.

res golfers, hikers, bikers

Metro Baptist School teacher Yvonne Short picked Thursday afternoon for a field trip for her students.

"We ate lunch here and the youngsters played in the playground. Next, we'll take a hike on the trail," said Short. "This is a good place for a school field trip, especially because it's so close to our school in Belleville."

Don Brown strolled from his home on nearby Hannan Road to take a five-mile hike in the Metropark - his usual exercise.

Kevin Franklin brought his daughter, Nicole, and Lauren Phillips to ride their bikes at the Metropark, and Joell and Wesley Knoch strapped on their roller blades for a ride on the paved trails.

The new entrance to the park is at the intersection of Huron River Drive and Haggerty Road. The parks are open all year for hikers and outdoor enthusiasts. On May 28, the swimming pool will open.

Dealership assists animal rescue group

Tennyson Chevrolet of Livonia plans to help rescue sick or injured animals by providing gasoline for the emergency vehicles of the Michigan Humane Society (MHS) Rescue Division.

"We are a family dealership and understand the importance of a family pet," Tennyson Chevrolet owner Kit Tennyson said. "We want to provide assistance to the Michigan Humane Society in their efforts to rescue not only pets who have become lost or injured, but the many homeless and abandoned animals who need families."

"We are a family dealership and understand the importance of a family pet."

For every vehicle purchased during the month of May at Tennyson Chevrolet, five gallons of gasoline will be donated to the vehicle fleet of MHS Animal Rescue Division. The Rescue Division operates 365 days a year from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and assists more than 7,000 animals annually.

"We have 10 vehicles on the road," said Sherry Silk, MHS Director of Operations. "And springtime is our busiest time. There is no question we'll put this generous donation to excellent use."

May 1 through May 7 is Be Kind to Animals Week. MHS is offering free pet ID tags, and 10 percent off merchandise at its Paw Pourri gift shop in Royal Oak to anyone adopting an animal throughout the week. The public is also invited to meet more than 200 adoptable pets at the Detroit Zoo on May 7 and 8, at "Meet Your Best Friend at the Zoo."

Driving costs rise slightly in 1994

Annual costs to own and operate a new car increased less than one cent per mile in 1994.

Lower fuel prices and a decline in finance charges helped offset higher depreciation expenses and limited the driving cost increase to .7 cent per mile for 1994, or a total of 39.4 cents, according to a AAA Michigan report.

Average ownership and operating expenses are based on driving 15,000 miles per year. A composite of three domestically built cars - a subcompact Ford Escort LX, a mid-size Ford Taurus GL and a full-size Chevrolet Caprice - were used to compute the national average.

The average per mile driving cost was nearly unchanged from 1992 to 1993, rising only .1 cent, according to AAA Michigan.

In 1994, motorists will pay an average $5,910 in ownership and operating costs, up $106 from last year and an increase of 1.8 percent.

According to Your Driving Costs, 1994 average driving expenses varied from a year ago as follows:

- Depreciation increased $110, from $2,830 in 1993 to $2,940 in 1994.

- The cost of gas and oil fell from 5.9 cents per mile to 5.6 cents, a decrease of $45 annually.

- Finance charges, assuming 20 percent down at 10 percent interest for four years, declined $22 from $670 in 1993 to $648 in 1994.

- Total insurance cost, including collision, comprehensive and property damage/liability, were up nationwide $25 from $744 in 1993 to $769 in 1994. However, the average AAA Michigan policy declined about $20 since October of 1993.

- Taxes, license and registration cost rose $16 from $178 in 1993 to $194 in 1994.

- Tire costs increased from .9 cents per mile to one cent per mile, an increase of $15 annually.

Your Driving Costs is available at AAA Michigan full service branches throughout the state.

Conference set in Wayne murder

A June 24 final conference has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with second-degree murder and felony firearm before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Warfield Moore.

Bruce Edward Buford, 23, allegedly shot to death Wayne resident Richard Daniel at his aunt's home at the Hickory Hollow complex March 29.

A $250,000 bond was set for Buford during a recent preliminary examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Police received a 911 call from the victim's aunt at approximately 12:19 a.m., according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

Police found the victim unconscious on the floor with a gunshot wound. He was transported to Annapolis Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

If the defendant is found guilty of second-degree murder and felony firearm, he could receive up to life in prison.

Corpse found in Rouge River

Canton Township police are attempting to determine if the corpse discovered by Plymouth Township police officers May 19 may be missing Alzheimers patient, Richard Edwin Huntley, 72.

Police extracted the body from the river at Northville and Hines Drive early Thursday night after a resident contacted the department.

While police cannot confirm the man's identity, Police Community Relations Officer Tammie Colling said, characteristics of the man found match those of Huntley.

Police are waiting for a report from the Wayne County Medical Examiner.

Huntley was reported missing from his Canton Township apartment April 5. Since his disappearance, local police have conducted extensive searches of the surrounding area. Huntley's wife suspected he may have returned to his home state of New Jersey.

Fire claims life of local man

Canton Township firefighters responded to the 8400 block of Alton just after midnight May 20, but were unable to reach Robert Vanderroest in time.

Vanderroest, in the basement at the time of the fire, occupied the home with his two adult children, who were not home at the time of the blaze. Firefighters attempted to reach the 48-year-old homeowner, but were not successful. A chaplain was called to the scene to comfort family members.

Responding fire units reported smoke visible while en route and upon arrival flames were visible throughout the residence. One firefighter was transported to Oakwood Clinic for minor injuries.

Incident investigated Area landfill explosion, fire sparks freeway closing

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Firefighters, who responded to the site of a hazardous materials explosion and fire Wednesday at a Van Buren Township landfill, remained at the scene for eight hours.

At approximately 12:05 a.m., Van Buren Township firefighters and police officers responded to a fire at the EQ-The Environmental Quality Company, formerly known as Envotech, on the Interstate North Service Drive and discovered hazardous materials were involved.

The scene was cordoned off and the Western Wayne Hazardous Incident Response team was notified.

According to the Van Buren Public Safety Department, the fire started when a worker at the treatment plant was opening a 55-gallon drum containing a magnesium alloy. The magnesium ignited, causing a small explosion and fire. Workers attempted to extinguish the fire with sand, but the fire has already spread to other chemicals. The workers evacuated the area with no injuries.

Van Buren Police officers, assisted by the Michigan State Police, Wayne County Sheriff, Wayne County Airport police, Washtenaw County Sheriff, and police from Belleville, Romulus and Canton Township, closed the I-94 service drives on both sides of the freeway between Belleville and Rawsonville roads as a precautionary measure.

"We had 28 firefighters from Van Buren Township plus 20 from the Western Wayne Hazardous Incident Response team," said Fire Chief Al Smolen. "We didn't clear the scene until 8:10 a.m., about eight hours from when we responded. In the first hour and one-half we had the majority of the fire out. The remainder of the time was spent mopping up the hot spots, sampling the air and monitoring the smoke pattern."

"Our main goal is to protect the residents and rescuers. We closed I-94 to be sure that people would not be contaminated as they drove by," Smolen said. "We monitored the air at Harbour Club Apartments, across the freeway, and when the wind shifted in its direction we encouraged people to stay indoors and keep their windows closed."

The fire chief said the explosion and fire, which produced a "significant event," did not af-

Branching out Cottonwood tree is largest in state

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

An enormous tree in Wayne received statewide recognition for the second time in less than 30 years.

A cottonwood tree which has made a home on the north side of town near bike path marker 63 was recently proclaimed the winner of the Global Relief largest tree contest in Hart Plaza, according to Dick Polehna, reporter for the Wayne cable television show.

Polehna entered the tree in the contest along with Monroe Elementary School teacher Frank Walker.

"I happened to see the entry for the contest only days before the deadline," Polehna said. "I notified Frank Walker about it, and we decided to send in the measurements."

The cottonwood phenomenon actually measures 339 inches around, according to Polehna. It took top honors at the Global Relief event as the largest tree in the state.

"It could even be the largest in the nation," Polehna said. "It's being checked for that consideration right now."

It was July 12, 1967, however, when the cottonwood tree first became famous, according to Walker. His father, Dr. Frank B. Walker, noticed the magnitude of what looks like three tree trunks merged together while he was taking a walk with his children down a path on the outskirts of Dynamite Park.

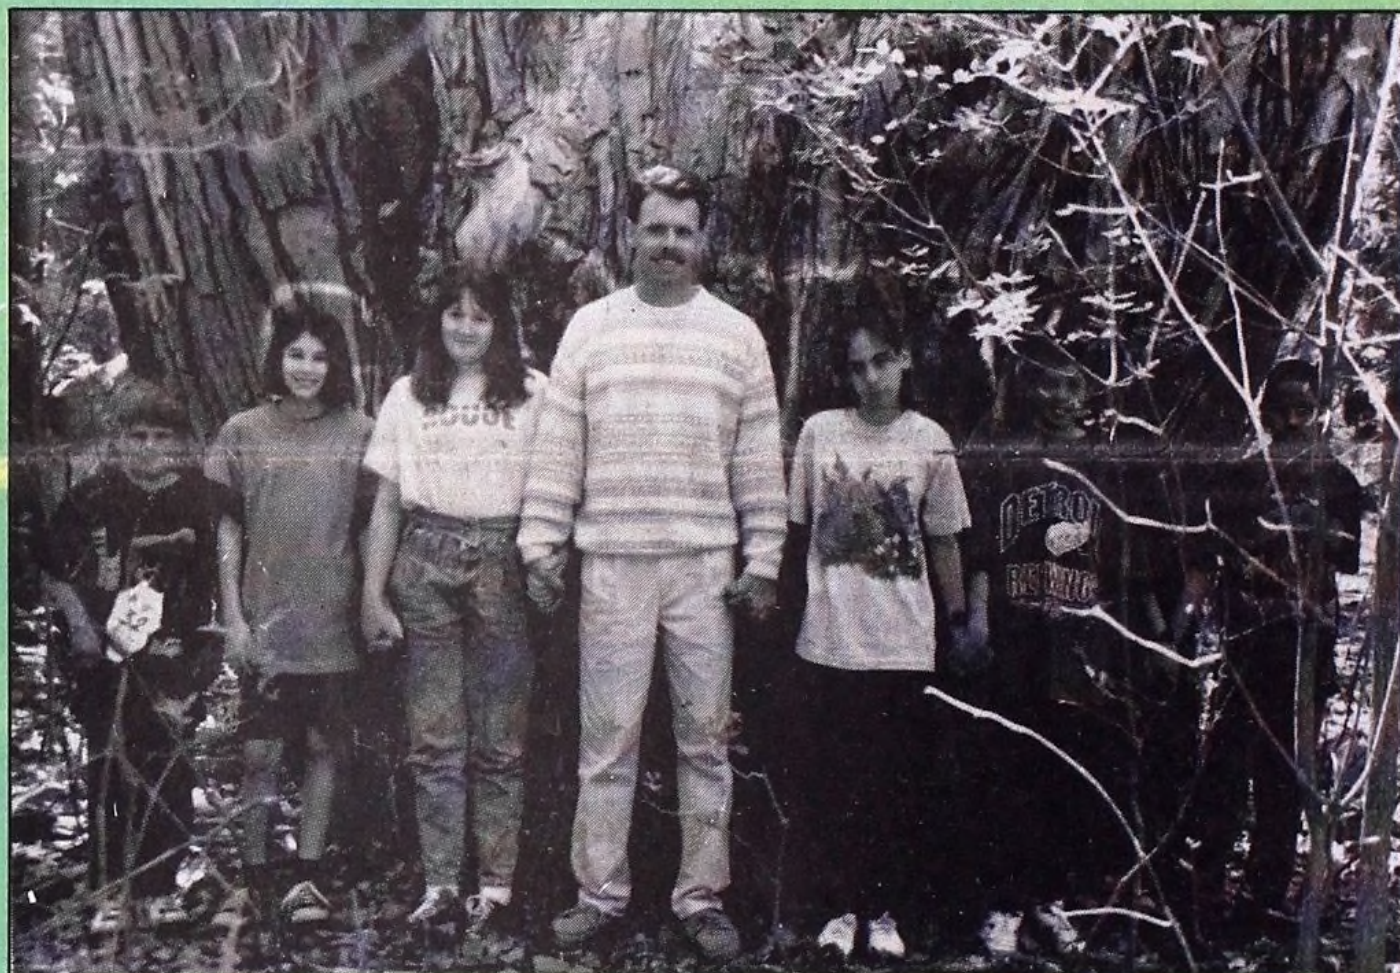

The towering branches and gigantic trunk captured his attention.

"At the time my father had read an article about a group which was asking for information on large trees in the area," Walker said. "The article even gave the reader instructions on how to measure the tree."

"My father went out and measured it, and then he sent in the results."

It was only a matter of days before Walker's father was notified by the society that representatives were visiting Wayne to officially measure the tree with their own instruments.

It was actually Frank Walker's father, Dr. Frank B. Walker (bottom), who first measured the cottonwood tree in 1967 when it was proclaimed the third largest in the state. Walker (middle top) and his students, Eric Madden (left), Stephanie Rickel, Alison Haupt, Janie Allore, Ryan Hardy and Kevin Joiner used their own measuring device of holding hands to find out just how many people it takes to cover the front of the 339 inch phenomena. False accusation Investigation clears 4 officers on brutality charges

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

After an in-depth investigation into allegations of police brutality during the arrest of Darren Lacey, four Inkster police officers were cleared and the allegations were found to be unsubstantiated.

Following his March 25 arrest, Lacey appeared before the Inkster City Council and made allegations that he had been physically beaten by four Inkster Police officers. At that time, Lacey displayed facial injuries and was conveyed to the council chambers in a wheelchair.

City Manager Margie Rose noted that the city council promised a full investigation into the allegations, and since that time, separate and independent investigations also have been conducted by the Wayne County Prosecutor's office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"Mr. Lacey's allegations of police misconduct are not only wholly unwarranted, but, also, contrary to the facts as they occurred on March 20. The police officers involved are innocent of the charges against them levied by Mr. Lacey. In fact, two of the officers sustained injuries when they were struck by Mr. Lacey during the course of his arrest," Rose reported.

"For the past two months, the Inkster officers have stood wrongfully accused of physically beating Mr. Lacey. Some citizens of Inkster representing a small minority of residents, tried and convicted these officers of the facts and circumstances. DUE for a thorough investigation said in her statement at the meeting.

Area man faces homicide charge in death of Romulus resident

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Thirty-fourth District Court Chief Judge Felix Rogalle downgraded the complaint against a Huron Township driver involved in the vehicle crash which resulted in the death of Romulus resident Earl Plank to negligent homicide.

The defendant, Bill James West, 18, originally was charged with vehicular manslaughter following a crash early May 7, when police said his car ran a red light at Wayne and Goddard roads in Romulus, struck the side of a truck operated by Plank, flipping it over on the side and killing the driver.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Jerry Dorsey called two witnesses last Wednesday, Romulus Police Officer Michael Grant and a private citizen, Robert Eden.

Grant testified that he was dispatched to the accident scene at 12:10 a.m. and found Mr. Plank slumped over in the passenger side of truck as it was tipped over by the force of the crash. He later determined Plank had been killed instantly.

The officer said West was semi-conscious and pinned inside his vehicle with two other passengers. West and a fellow passenger were extricated by the Romulus Fire Department

"jaws of life." The other passenger was able to squeeze out of the crushed vehicle by himself.

Grant said he followed West to Annapolis Hospital and found he smelled of intoxicants, but the driver was not tested for alcohol use until three hours later. The test results showed at that time his blood alcohol level was only .01, Grant said.

The police officer testified that West admitted chasing another car on Wayne Road after the Huron High School prom. As he approached the Goddard Street intersection, Grant said West admitted being urged by a passenger in his car to continue after the vehicle which was traveling about 100 mph.

Just as he passed through the red light, Grant said the West car struck the Plank truck.

Grant said while questioning West at Annapolis Hospital, West admitted consuming three iced beers earlier.

The officer said the West car left about 80-90 feet of skid marks at the scene.

Eden said he was standing near the intersection shortly before the crash, when he heard the screech of West's brakes and then witnessed the crash. He estimated the West car was traveling between 50-65 mph at the time of the crash.

Dorsey asked Rogalle to bind over the charge of motor vehicle manslaughter against West, based on the evidence "that shows he was grossly negligent" in his driving pattern.

But Rogalle, without any requests from the defense attorney, lowered the charge to negligent homicide.

"I'm not infallible, so I will give the prosecution seven days to file a challenge to my action, and the defense seven days to respond to any such challenge," Rogalle said.

Dorsey met privately with about a dozen members of the Plank family both before and after the hearing last Wednesday.

It has not been revealed yet if the prosecutor's office will challenge Rogalle's ruling.

Police officials said the vehicular manslaughter count carries a maximum 15-year prison term, while the negligent homicide carries only a two-year maximum term.

Sentencing set in Wayne murder

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

A Romulus man charged with second-degree murder is expected to be sentenced May 23 before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Thomas Jackson.

William Mario Johnson, 25, was arrested and charged in the death of Wayne resident Marvin Steiner.

Steiner's body was found wrapped in a mattress on Belle Isle Sept. 4. He was clothed, but had no identification, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

During the Sept. 22 examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, prosecuting attorney Charles Sellers informed Archbold that Robert Vass found Steiner's body.

He also stated that a dentist was able to match teeth marks found on the defendant to Steiner.

Sellers read part of the police interrogation of the defendant conducted Sept. 9, 1993 by Sgt. Chris Johnson at the Wayne Police Department.

"I was behind him and had him in a headlock," Sellers said. "I wrapped a fan cord two times around his neck. I saw his head turning blue. I unwrapped it right away."

From the statement, Sellers informed Archbold that an argument occurred outside Steiner's home in Wayne. When Steiner went inside his home, Johnson followed, according to the statement.

Johnson could receive up to life in prison for second-degree murder.

statement: "In the early morning hours of March 20, Sharon Stanton, a girlfriend of Lacey's arrived at Lacey's home on North River Drive in Inkster. Upon arriving at the home, Ms. Stanton observed another woman inside the house with Mr. Lacey, and Ms. Stanton and Mr. Lacey then began arguing."

According to the investigation Stanton left Lacey's premises in her automobile with Lacey following shortly after. Lacey met Stanton near the Union 76 gas station at the corner of Avondale and Inkster Road. After further verbal exchanges outside their vehicles, both got back into their cars and Lacey began to ram the front end of his vehicle into the passenger side of Stanton's vehicle.

An independent witness, a security guard, heard the loud crashing noises and observed the Lacey vehicle ramming the Stanton vehicle several times. Subsequent to his arrest, Lacey's vehicle was found to have sustained front end damage and damage was observed to the entire side of the Stanton vehicle. The two vehicles left the gas station and proceeded a short distance on eastbound Avondale where they met with the Inkster police cruisers.

"The Inkster police has previously been called to the Lacey residence due to the disturbance and property damage at the Union 76 gas station," the investigation revealed. "After being stopped by the Inkster police, Lacey and Stanton again exited their vehicles and immediately became involved in a heated argument and physical fight."

According to the testimony of Sharon Stanton at Lacey's criminal preliminary examination, Lacey struck her in the head with his fists. She testified that she responded by striking Lacey several times in the face with her fists. She did not observe any of the officers strike Lacey.

Stanton further told Judge Sylvia James that during the altercation with Lacey, the officers attempted to restrain Lacey and he (Lacey) repeated threatened to kill her.

At the April 13 preliminary examination, Lacey was bound over for trial on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, malicious destruction of property with a value of more than $100.

"They came out, and after they completed their measuring, my father was told he had found one of the largest cottonwood trees in the nation," Walker said.

For winning the event this year, Walker received an audio nature cassette and a certificate. He said he remembers his father always being concerned about the environment when he was growing up.

"He would take us on walks and tell us about the different trees and animals," Walker said. "I guess you could say that's where I got my spark of interest for preserving the environment. I try to pass that on to my students."

Walker is a science teacher at Monroe in the Wayne-Westland School District. One of his nature projects with the students involved making wood duck boxes which they placed along the Rouge River.

Garden City Hospital opens new Sleep Disorders Center

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

Do you have difficulty falling asleep? Do you wake up during the middle of the night and can't go back to sleep? Do you snore loudly? Do you sweat excessively during the night?

If the answer is yes to at least one of these questions, you may have a sleep disorder.

Thousands of people every night suffer from some kind of sleeping problem. But, there is good news, according to officials from Garden City Hospital, 6245 Inkster Road.

Doctors can now assist individuals with overcoming insomnia, a term used to describe people who have trouble falling or staying asleep. Garden City has completed a new sleep disorder center where patients can be monitored to find solutions to their sleep problems, according to Karen Parsell, coordinator for the Garden City Sleep Disorders program.

"We began the process deciding what the Sleep Disorders Center should have about three years ago," Parsell said. "It's amazing when you find out just how many people who have a sleep disorder and try to function during the day on maybe one or two hours of restless sleep."

The Garden City Sleep Disorders Center consists of two bedrooms and two examination rooms, however, an expansion is being considered as the need increases, according to Parsell.

Soft colors of mauve, cream and purple adorn the inside of the bedrooms which also house a video camera so the staff can monitor the patient throughout the night. The procedure is painless, according to Parsell.

"An average sleep study can last for two nights and a day," Parsell said. "It really all depends on the problem. When a person first arrives at the facility they are admitted and then after they change into their night clothes, sleep technicians apply electrodes to their face, head, chest and legs. That takes about a half hour."

The electrodes will not disturb a person's sleep. They just record the electrical activity present in the body.

About 10:30 p.m. technicians take the individual into their private sleeping room. Once in the room, a few additional recording devices are applied.

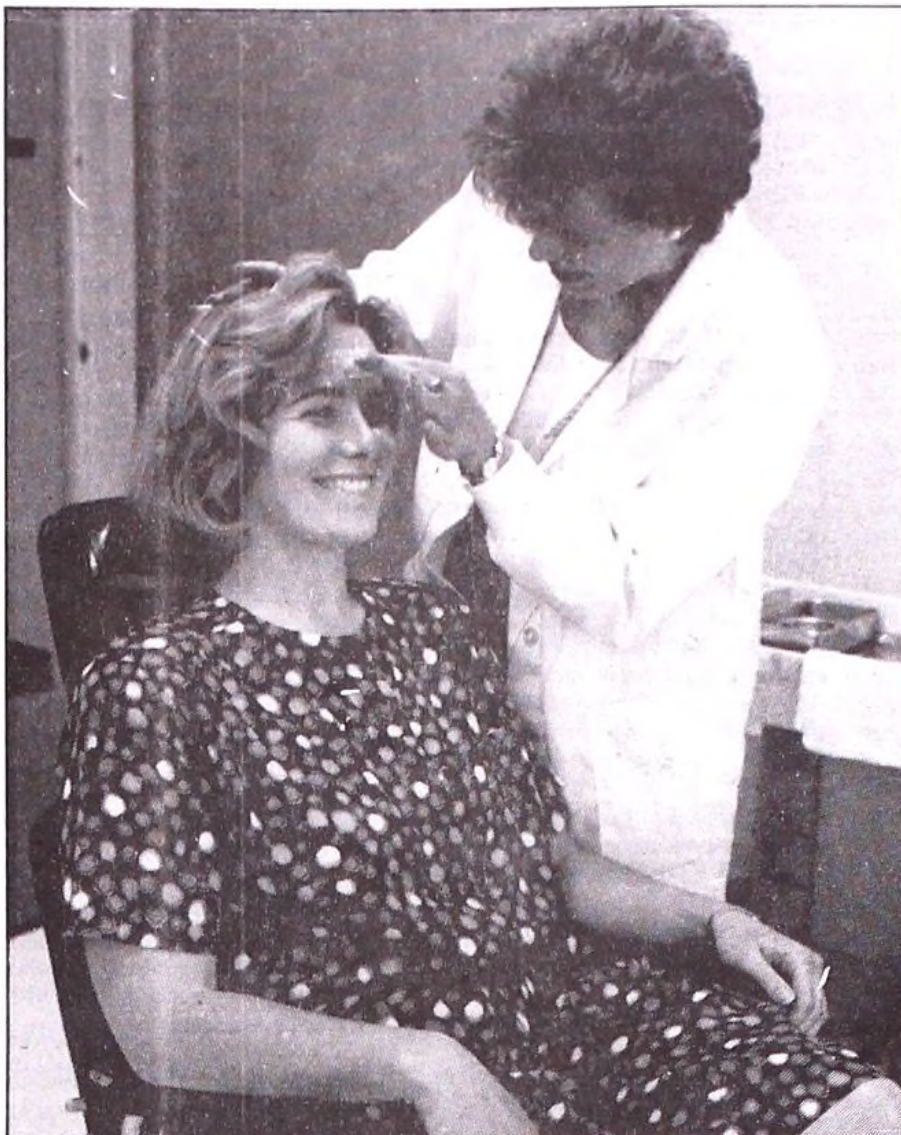

"Bedtime is around 11 p.m.," Parsell said. "There will be a technician in the room adjacent to the patient's room who will be monitoring the changes throughout the night. Anytime a patient needs something, they can speak to the technician through the intercom."

Patients are asked to stay in bed for eight hours. A technician awakes the individual at approximately 7 a.m.

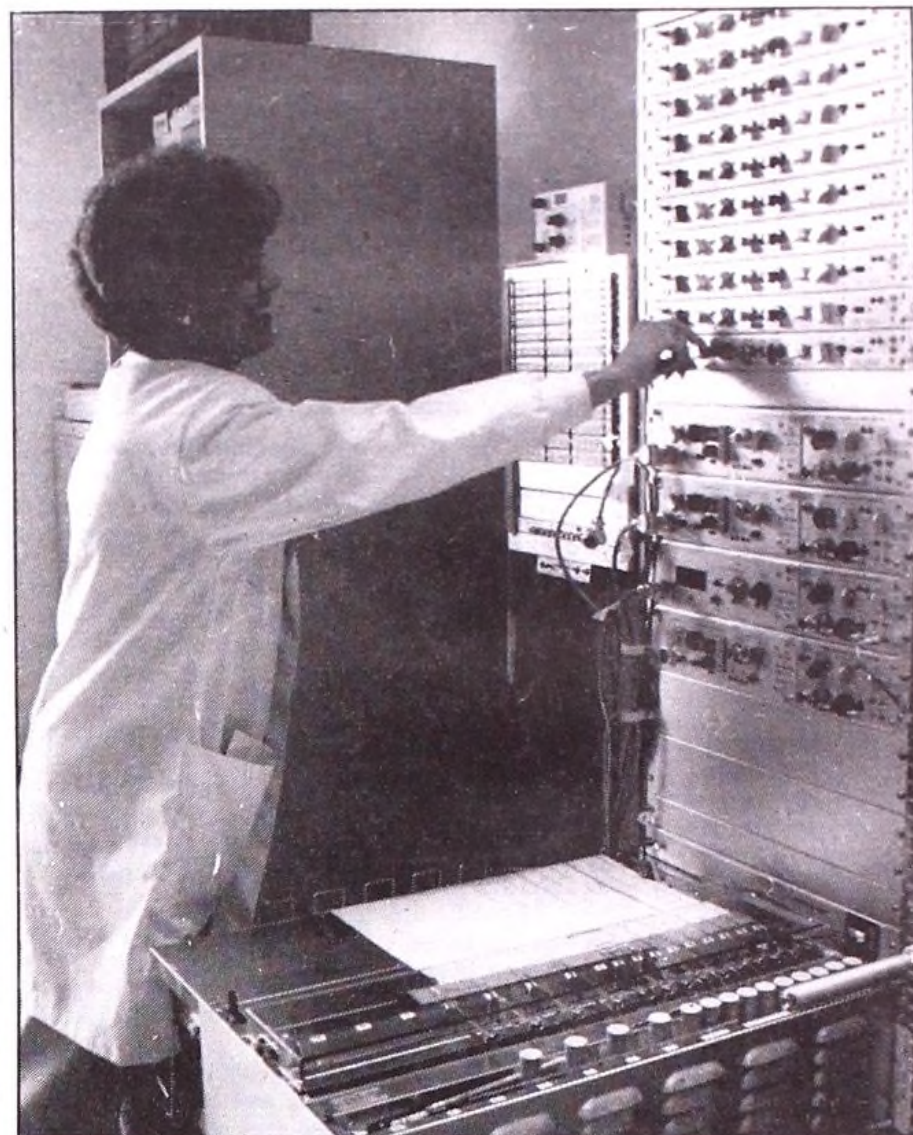

"The first night is what we call an acquaintance night where the patient gets used to the surroundings," Parsell said. "It's usually the second night when they are more relaxed."

Sleep problems can vary from individual to individual, but there are common disorders which include: snoring/sleep apnea; insomnia; narcolepsy and periodic leg movements.

"With sleep apnea, this person has all the sleep disorder symptoms which include high blood pressure and snoring," Parsell said. "Actually if a person snores loudly, it can be a sign of obstructive sleep apnea, a condition where breathing actually stops for up to minutes at a time. This can create a life-threatening situation."

If sleep apnea is left untreated, it can contribute to daytime sleepiness and trigger high blood pressure, heart failure and stroke.

"With insomnia, the person has a difficulty falling asleep or staying asleep," Parsell said. "With persistent insomnia, the person will often feel tired and irritable."

Insomnia can also be brought on by stress, depression, medications, irregular sleep schedule and physical illness, according to Parsell.

"With narcolepsy the individual may also have disturbing dreams and muscle paralysis when falling asleep or awakening."

Karen Parsell

Narcolepsy is a neurological condition characterized by daytime sleep attacks, sleepiness and lack of energy. Those with this disorder will find their muscles weaken when they are angry, surprised and amused.

"With narcolepsy the individual may also have disturbing dreams and muscle paralysis when falling asleep or awakening," Parsell said.

With periodic leg movements, the individual has involuntary leg twitching and jerking which can disrupt sleep, leaving the person tired and sleepy during the day. Cramping and leg discomfort are other symptoms of this common sleep problem.

Possible treatments for the various sleep disorders could include:

- Restricting the use of certain drugs, such as alcohol, caffeine and sleeping pills.
- Medications.
- Special equipment for improving sleep.
- A weight loss program.
- Surgical intervention.

There are two physicians who work with the patients on a one-to-one basis providing care. The Sleep Disorders Center accepts most insurance policies and Medicare.

An open house at the new Disorders Center is scheduled for 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. May 24. To schedule an evaluation call (313)458-3330.

Giddy up Cart goes behind horse

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

After several years of retirement, a trotter on "disability leave" is back in harness.

Cavambro, a 13-year old standard bred horse, owned by Leilani Babcock of Sumpter Township, had once been a candidate for destruction due to a severe hoof problem. But, this spring, he sprung back in shape and is proudly pulling a cart - almost like the old days.

"Cavi raced for six years. One year he was put out to pasture for the first time and he literally ate himself sick. He had been used to being in a stall, and severely over-ate, which is dangerous for a horse," Babcock said. "All of his problem when to his feet and he developed abscesses. Two things usually cause severe hoof diseases - racing too long and too hard and overeating."

The horse was boarded at Babcock's Winterlong Stables on Judd Road where she helped to nurse him back to health during a two-year period.

"Cavi couldn't put weight on his front feet. He kind of hobbled on his hind feet," she said. "We soaked his feet and had his hooves trimmed, and finally he got better."

After the long period of time that the horse was disabled, his owners decided they could no longer afford to keep him and informed Babcock that the horse would have to be "put down," or destroyed.

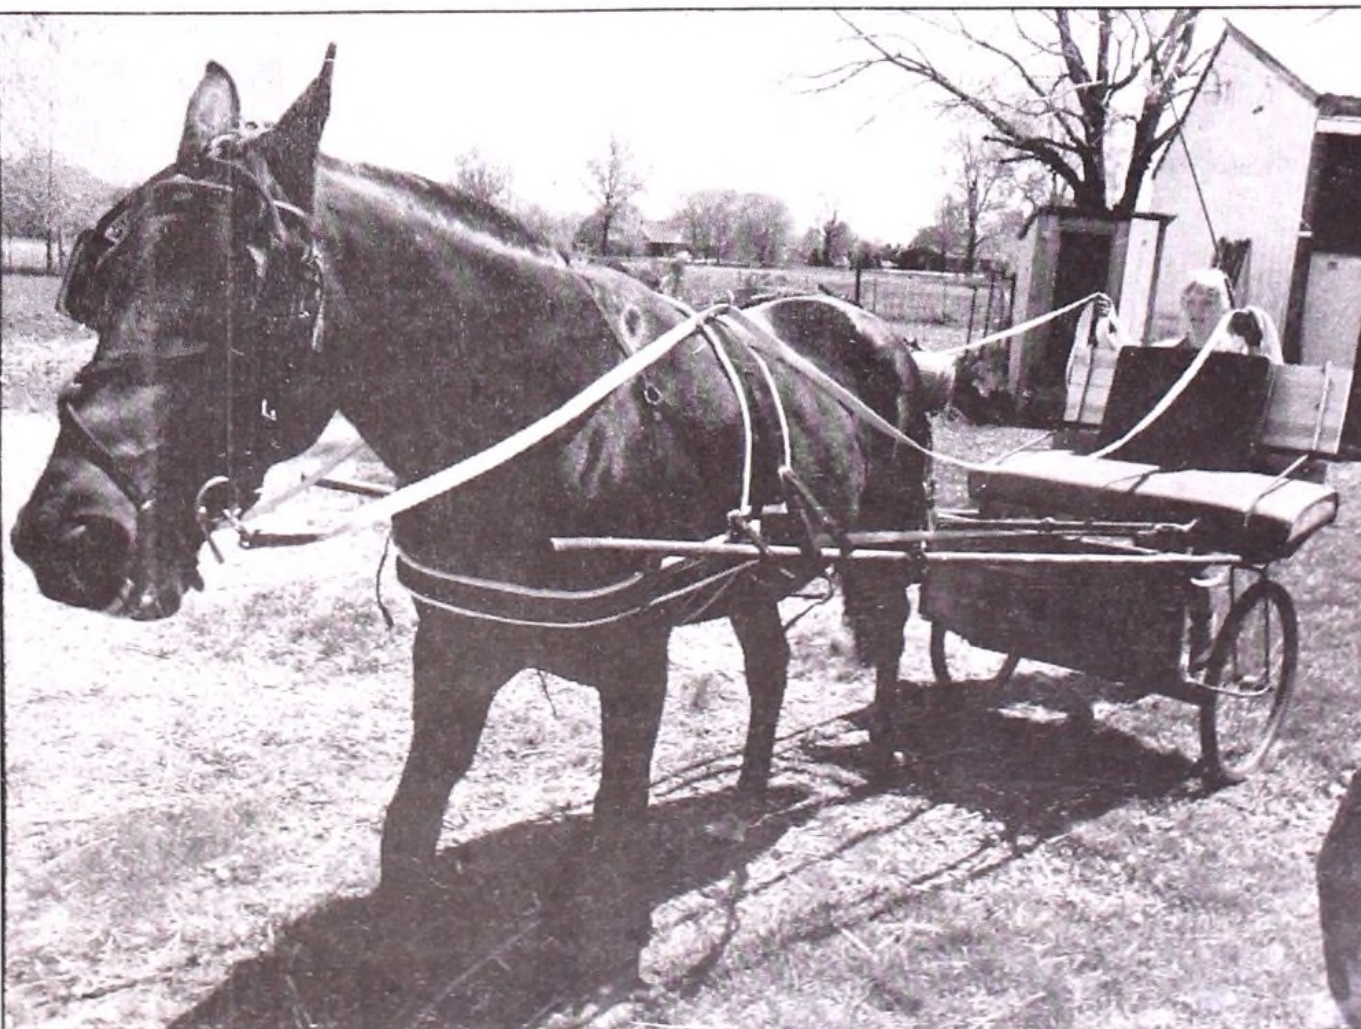

"He is such a nice horse that I didn't want that to happen, so I took him," she said. "I thought I could hitch him to a cart and use him for pleasure driving as a show horse."

Last Saturday, Babcock hitched the cart to Cavi for the first time, and he took off as if he had never been sidelined.

"He's teaching me to drive, and he is very patient with me and puts up with my mistakes," said Babcock, noting the horse is the expert and she is the novice in the cart pulling. "He is a perfect gentleman in the harness. There is little for me to do, but follow his lead."

After a bit more practice, Babcock plans to replace the plain cart for a fancy show cart and, perhaps, enter Cavi in a couple of events at the Milan Fairgrounds. If all goes well, Cavambro and his new driver may make an appearance at the Michigan State Fair in the future.

Until that time, Cavi will be horsing around the stable with Little Richard the mule and an assortment of riding horses.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Act 207 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan, for 1921 as amended, that a Public Hearing will be held by the City of Inkster Board of Zoning Appeals, on Thursday, June 2, 1994 at 7:00 p.m. The purpose of the Public Hearing is to consider granting a variance to City Ordinance No. 277 (City Zoning Code), Section 155.042(D)(4)(a) to allow a carry-out restaurant to be located within 500 feet of an elementary school. (Per Ordinance standard, no drive-in, fast-food, or carry-out restaurant shall be located within 500 feet from an elementary, junior or senior high school or from a public park).

The property subject to appeal, owned by Zuhair Marouf and Joe Marouf, is located at 3783 Middlebelt Road south of Carlyle Avenue. The subject property is described as: Lot 7, except the north 0.25 feet thereof, and all of Lot 8, Spector Subdivision, Township 2 South, Range 9 East, as recorded in Liber 86, Page 23, Wayne County Records (see map).

A new asphalt parking lot is proposed for the north 60 feet of Lot 102, Carver Homes Subdivision, Township 2 South, Range 9 East, as recorded in Liber 75, Pages 17, 18, 19, Wayne County Records (see map).

The Public Hearing will be held at the City of Inkster Recreation Center, 2025 Middlebelt Road, Inkster, Michigan 48141. Public comments are invited. Persons unable to attend the Public Hearing may send their comments in writing to the attention of the City of Inkster Community Development Director, 2121 Inkster Road, Inkster, Michigan 48141. Comments will be received through June 2, 1994. Please reference Case No. BZA 94-01 in all correspondence.

Joan Spears, Chairman
Board of Zoning Appeals

Instructions

Associated Newspapers invite you to have fun meeting these singles who are also looking for that "Perfect Match". It's as simple as this:

1. To respond to an ad

By Phone: Call to meet them now. First, find one or more singles on these pages that you'd like to have fun meeting. Call 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per minute). By using our unique "QuickConnect" system, our operators can call up whomever you'd like to talk with, let them hear your recording, and if that person is home, the two of you could be having fun planning your first date together tonight. Or, you can leave them messages in their Voicemail boxes and let them call you back. The only charge for our service is $1.99 per minute billed to your monthly phone bill, and, of course, you must be 18 or older to call.

By Mail: Place each response in a STAMPED envelope with the code number marked CLEARLY on the front. Put your response in a larger envelope, along with $5.00 per response and mail to:

Regal Eagles
801 W. Freeway, Suite 830
Grand Prairie, TX 75051

2. To get your FREE voicemail box

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE. Our operators will quickly assist you in making your own FREE voice recording and assign you a personal recording number so that you can meet other singles.

3. To place your ad

Simply call 1-800-ROMANCE (1-800-766-2623). Our operators will help you compose an ad, and we'll be happy to include it in the next available issue.

4. Retrieve your own VoiceMail messages by calling 1-900-884-4777 ($1.99 per min.), 24 hours a day, 7 days per week.

For more information, call Singles Telephone Company at 1-800-ROMANCE. You can leave voicemail messages and pick up your voicemail messages 24 hours a day. You can use our unique "QuickConnect" system from 9AM-10PM Monday-Saturday, and Noon to 10PM on Sundays. Have fun finding your "Perfect Match"!

CITY OF WAYNE Notice of Public Hearing on FY 1994-95 Budget and on Increasing Property Taxes

The total city millage rate was 19.25 mills for the fiscal year July 1, 1993 through June 30, 1994. A proposed total millage rate of 19.50 mills for fiscal year 1994-95 results in a 0.25 mill increase.

The City Council of the City of Wayne will hold a public hearing on the recommended fiscal year 1994-95 budget and the proposed millage rate on June 7, 1994 at 8:00 p.m. at Council Chambers, Wayne City Hall, 3355 S. Wayne Road.

City Council will take action on the proposed millage rate and budget the same night after this public hearing.

In accordance with Michigan Truth-in-Taxation legislation, the increase in the operating tax millage rate is 0.7173 mills. This is made up of 0.4273 mills to restore the operating tax millage rate to 18.66 mills plus 0.29 mills to replace revenues lost from the State Shared Revenue program and to replace administrative fees and interest lost when "Proposal A," the Constitutional Amendment, passed March 15, 1994.

If adopted, the proposed 18.95 operating tax millage rate will increase operating revenues from ad valorem property taxes $287,004 over such revenues generated by levies permitted without holding a hearing. If the proposed additional millage rate is not approved, the resulting fiscal year 1994-95 operating revenue will increase $50,542 or 0.7% over the preceding year's operating revenue.

A millage of 0.55 mills is recommended to pay fiscal year 1994-95 debt service.

The taxing unit publishing this notice, and identified below, has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied within its authorized millage rate.

AN EXCLUSIVE SUPPLEMENT
TO THE Associated Newspapers

EAGLE VIP EXTRA

EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA - EXTRA

Associated Newspapers is offering a unique first-of-its-kind savings program to you. We call it the Eagle VIP Card. In January you should have received your very own VIP card inside the newspaper. If you misplaced or threw it out, give us a call at 729-4000 and we'll be glad to mail you another.

This special supplement to the newspaper, called the EAGLE VIP EXTRA is your informational link to the savings you can obtain through the use of your VIP CARD.

There is no special trick or extra cost to begin using the VIP CARD. All you have to do is read the EXTRA, decide which discounts you want to take advantage of, and then go to the participating place of business and present your EAGLE VIP CARD. UPON PRESENTATION OF THE EAGLE VIP CARD you qualify for the special discount advertised in the EXTRA.

Participating businesses have been encouraged to offer the very best discounts. You won't find coupons or offers in other publications that are better deals than the offers advertised in the EXTRA. And you don't have to waste time cutting coupons out to take advantage of the deals. All you have to do is present your card to the appropriate business and the savings are automatically yours.

Finally, your VIP CARD is good for a year. We would hope that you become accustomed to using the card over and over each and every time you need to make a purchase. Naturally, it is equally important to read your copy of the EXTRA (if you don't already, subscribe to ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS to receive your copy) to ascertain which businesses are participating and what special discounts they are offering. You must do this to utilize your card because the businesses involved in the program and the specials offered change on a weekly basis.

See, it's really SIMPLE. All you need is a VIP CARD and a subscription to ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS and you can begin taking advantage of special discounts on services, goods, dining, entertainment and more.

For additional information feel free to call the VIP DEPARTMENT at ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS. Just dial 729-4000 and ask for VIP.

Sincerely,
Mike Wilcox

Runners return to festival this year

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The always well-attended Romulus 10K Run is being resumed Saturday after a one year absence, Director Dorothy West revealed.

The race will add another element other than revival this year, she said, as it will also foster knowledge of and support for the Downriver Chapter of the Michigan Lupus Foundation.

West said she decided to "marry" the two needs after her mother, Dorothy Ball, died of lupus in 1979.

West, in addition to being a teacher at Wick Elementary School, also is a member of the Ann Arbor Track Club. Thus, last winter she decided to combine the two elements and offered to take over the leaderless 10K Run and at the same time help educate area residents about the problems of lupus disease, that affects over a half million Americans today.

West then contacted Tom Roberts, director of the Michigan Lupus Foundation, the largest in the U.S., and asked if they could use the 10K Run as a lupus fundraising event.

West, whose family already was impacted by the disease, learned that the often-fatal disorder of the immune system affects mostly women. West also learned that 16,000 cases of lupus are diagnosed each year, with women victims outnumbering men by a ratio of 10-to-1.

Roberts said the number of cases of lupus are increasing more rapidly today because more is known about the disorder, despite the fact the general public still remains relatively ignorant of its existence.

With the dual agreement reached with the city and the Lupus Foundation, West then proceeded to encourage runners, walkers and even wheelchair users to take part in the Saturday races and walks.

Knowing that many participants wait until race day to sign on because of Michigan weather changes, West has arranged for a late registration period from 6:30 to 8:15 a.m. Saturday for the 5K Walk, 1 Mile Fun Run and 10K Run.

The 5K Walk and 1 Mile Fun Run will begin at 8 a.m. and the 10K Run starts a half hour later.

The awards ceremony will begin at 10:15 a.m., West said, and hopefully Roberts and Scott Wilson of Garden City (the awards company owner working with West) will be in attendance.

Ironically, Wilson was diagnosed with lupus three years ago. An avid bowler, Wilson found his energy level dipping drastically and saw his 17-year bowling average of 195 dropping to 165.

The weight of his bowling ball also was cut from his normal 16 pounds to 13 pounds. But he credits his doctor, the Lupus Foundation and his teammates with excellent medical treatment and enthusiastic encouragement, so that this year his energy level has risen and he is now able to use a 15-pound bowling ball.

The biggest excitement of the year, however, came on March 29, 1994, Wilson said, when he bowled a remarkable 300 game. "The irony is the highest I ever bowled when I was healthy was 287," Wilson said.

The 6 foot 6 inch trophy store owner said he is impacted by a mild form of lupus known as mixed connective tissue disease. He is hoping that the disease does not "go internal" and if that occurs he could live a somewhat normal life.

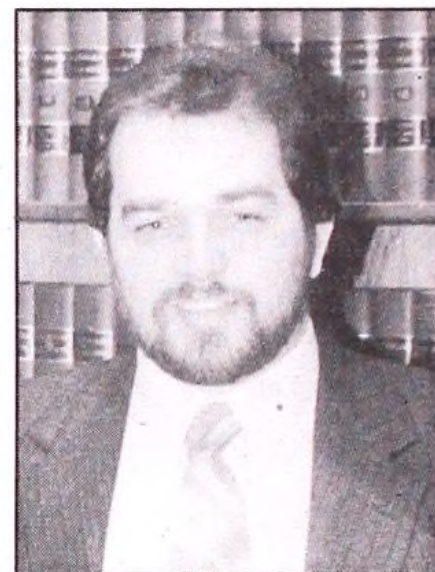

Despite the fact he has much more energy today than in recent years, he realizes that lupus patients still have some bad days.

Wilson remains hopeful that he will be able to attend the Saturday festivities.

Plenty of fun planned at city festival

While the W.C. Wade Shows carnival and midway area of the Romulus Michigan Week Festival is already in operation, most do not feel the festival actually begins until the Friday night opening parade kicks off near City Hall.

Wade Shows workmen raised the carnival area Tuesday in order to allow local families to purchase special $8 ride-all-day tickets for Wednesday and Thursday.

Richard Donahey, who heads the Romulus Rotary Club parade sponsorship committee, reported the parade will begin on Gabriel Street about 6 p.m. Friday and wind through downtown Romulus streets until it ends at the Olive Street parking lot.

About the same time the festival bingo and refreshment tents and the Arts and Crafts building will open for the weekend.

At 7 p.m. Friday the Big City Shades musical group will open the festivities in the entertainment tent. At 10 p.m. a free prize drawing will be conducted and the winner must be present to claim the prize.

On Saturday - the first full day of festival - activities will begin at 6:30 a.m. with late entries signing up for the Romulus 5K Walk, 1 Mile Fun Run and the 10K Run at the rear of the city Recreation Building.

The festival will climax with two shows by Elvis Impersonator Sherman Arnold, the first about 5:30 p.m. with the Interstate Band and then at 9:30 p.m. when Arnold will offer a special tribute to Elvis Presley.

A half hour later, the Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast will begin in the entertainment tent. The breakfast will continue until 1 p.m.

Kiwanians as usual have set "all you can eat" meal prices at $3.50 for adults, $2 for children and $2.50 for senior citizens. Funds raised are used to support many of the Kiwanis annual projects.

At 8 a.m. both the 5K Walk and the 1 Mile Fun Run activities will begin under the direction of Dorothy West.

A half hour later the official Romulus Michigan Week Run for Lupus begins.

At 10:15 a.m. the official awards presentation for the various walks and runs will be conducted on the festival grounds behind the city Recreation Building.

Festival Chairman Laurie Klukowski reported that as an added attraction from 10 a.m. to noon Sassy the Clown will be walking the grounds and painting small flowers on children's faces.

Sassy later will return for another two-hour visit from 2 to 4 p.m., Klukowski said.

Once again at noon, the festival grounds activities will resume for the day with the Arts and Crafts building, bingo and refreshment tents opening.

The highlight of the early afternoon activities will be the free games for children ages 4-12 on the grassy lot next to the Recreation Building.

The fun and games are co-sponsored by the City Assessor's Office and the Romulus Festival Committee.

At 1 p.m. three activities will begin: a karate demonstration in the entertainment Tent, TumbleBunnies will offer gymnastics demonstrations and the Romulus Historical Museum will open.

MTM Dance Studio dancers will perform from 2 to 3 p.m. and the Romulus High School Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps will present a weapons skill demonstration under the direction of Commander Marvin.

At 4:30 p.m. both a community potluck at the Historical Park and a fun time karaoke activity will begin. The karaoke program will be conducted at the entertainment tent.

The night time musical production will begin at 7 p.m. and will be offered by the First Choice band.

On Sunday doors of the Arts and Crafts building, the refreshment and bingo tents and the amusement rides will open at noon, with the museum re-opening an hour later.

Special shows will begin at noon with the TumbleBunnies providing a four-hour gymnastics performance on the grassy area next to Recreation Building and Sunshine the Clown will offer an hour magic show beginning at 1 p.m.

Beginning at 4 p.m. the Wade Shows will begin a six-hour $8 pays all ride ticket.

The festival will climax with two shows by Elvis Impersonator Sherman Arnold, the first about 5:30 p.m. with the Interstate Band and then at 9:30 p.m. when Arnold will offer a special tribute to Elvis Presley.

'The King' Elvis to entertain crowds

Sherman Arnold has been impersonating rock 'n' roll king Elvis Presley since 1956, when Arnold was only 16.

But this week Arnold, who is the oldest Presley impersonator in the aspect of longevity of entertaining fans of the late superstar, will be appearing at the Romulus Michigan Week Festival beginning 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Arnold, now 54 and a member of the Elvis Presley Impersonator's Hall of Fame, will open his initial four-hour show with members of the Interstate Band. The early show will offer numerous '50s songs, including legendary rock n' roll tunes, country and Rock-a-Billy songs, waltzes and ballads.

Later in the evening Arnold will switch into one of his dozen or more Presley-style jumpsuits and offer an extensive "Tribute to Elvis."

Arnold stresses that he in no way believes that he is Elvis and consistently reminds the crowd that he is only providing a tribute to Elvis, a unique entertainer he has looked up to since his teenage years.

Arnold refuses to join the "Elvis is Alive" fanatics.

"If Elvis were alive, he would be out there entertaining," he said.

The Taylor resident said one of his most prized possessions is a 1951 Studebaker auto that sports three air-brushed paintings of the rock 'n' roll legend at different points in his career.

In the early part of the Sunday show, Arnold said, he and members of the Interstate Band will offer renditions of other '50s greats including Buddy Holly and Jerry Lee Lewis.

Throughout the evening Arnold and his group accepts requests for special dance music favorites and other tunes. He passes out scarfs during his shows to women and mini-Teddy bears (about three inches tall) to children in the audience.

Arnold said he made some records in 1974 and then switched to tapes in the 1990s. Two of his tapes are tributes to Elvis, one is a country music special and his latest and best selling one is a gospel music tape containing such songs as Crying in the Chapel, Amazing Grace and In the Garden.

"I use to close my Elvis tribute show with a rendition of 'How Great Thou Art,' he said, "but more recently have switched to 'Peace in the Valley' as a finale.

Arnold said he halted his Elvis

Presley imitations for three years once, but now conducts between 80-120 performances a year.

"I have refused to do bars since 1973, as I feel I will only entertain in a family-style setting. I am booked most often by services clubs, auto shows, churches and communities such as Romulus," he said.

Arnold works day hours with General Motors as a security official and has been with the company for 21 years.

Obviously, he loves the time he has to spend on his Elvis tributes most of all.

Crazy drivers

Shrine Circus Crazy Car drivers provide an added touch of humor to the Romulus Festival Parade each year. The all-volunteer troop will be on hand to delight festival parade audiences again this year.

Committee members seek citizens' input

The Big City Shades band, specializing in country and oldies music, will be the opening music act this Friday at the Romulus Michigan Week Festival.

The four-piece band that originates in Northern Oakland County will be performing from 7 to 11 p.m. Friday in the festival Entertainment Tent.

Big City Shades quartet has all four members sharing the lead singer spotlight during the four hour performance. "We have more than 50 years of musical experience with all the members of our band," a spokesman said, "and provide a wide assortment of music. We will even take requests but find that most festival goers today love the 50s and 60s sounds."

While the group performs year-round, the spokesman said, "We especially like the outdoor summer festival season, as we feel it brings us closer to the people."

"Last year while we were performing at the Wayne Moose outing, we were approached by a Romulus Festival representative and asked if we would like to play at the 1994 Romulus Festival. We sent a tape recording, the festival committee liked it and arrangements were made for us to become the opening night act," the spokesman said.

Big City band to open annual festivities

The hard-working Romulus Week Festival Committee needs your suggestions.

After many months of planning for the 1994 city festival, the committee (on the recommendation of John Smith) is seeking recommendations from the public concerning possible changes for operations at the 1995 Romulus Week Festival.

Such suggestions should be dropped in the designated box at the entertainment tent during this week's festivities.

Otherwise festival enthusiasts can mail their suggestions to the Romulus Festival Committee, 26515 Bibbins, Romulus, Mich. 48174.

The committee that arranged for 24 solid hours of fun activities was headed by Laurie Klukowski. Members included John Smith, MaryAnn Wells, Rebecca Klukowski, Kathy Darnell, Ralph VanValkenburg, Sue Dorr and Gail Howard.

Persons willing to join the committee also should notify Klukowski or the Romulus Recreation Department.

Associated Newspapers is offering a unique first-of-its-kind savings program to you. We call it the Eagle VIP Card. In January you should have received your very own VIP card inside the newspaper. If you misplaced or threw it out, give us a call at 729-4000 and we'll be glad to mail you another.

This special supplement to the newspaper, called the EAGLE VIP EXTRA is your informational link to the savings you can obtain through the use of your VIP CARD.

There is no special trick or extra cost to begin using the VIP CARD. All you have to do is read the EXTRA, decide which discounts you want to take advantage of, and then go to the participating place of business and present your EAGLE VIP CARD. UPON PRESENTATION OF THE EAGLE VIP CARD you qualify for the special discount advertised in the EXTRA.

Participating businesses have been encouraged to offer the very best discounts. You won't find coupons or offers in other publications that are better deals than the offers advertised in the EXTRA. And you don't have to waste time cutting coupons out to take advantage of the deals. All you have to do is present your card to the appropriate business and the savings are automatically yours.

Finally, your VIP CARD is good for a year. We would hope that you become accustomed to using the card over and over each and every time you need to make a purchase. Naturally, it is equally important to read your copy of the EXTRA (if you don't already, subscribe to ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS to receive your copy) to ascertain which businesses are participating and what special discounts they are offering. You must do this to utilize your card because the businesses involved in the program and the specials offered change on a weekly basis.

See, it's really SIMPLE. All you need is a VIP CARD and a subscription to ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS and you can begin taking advantage of special discounts on services, goods, dining, entertainment and more.

For additional information feel free to call the VIP DEPARTMENT at ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS. Just dial 729-4000 and ask for VIP.
